

Third Pupil Hurt Action Promised

Accidents Worry Schools

School authorities yesterday promised immediate action following the third traffic accident in three days involving pupils from North Ward Elementary School.

Latest victim was five-year-old John Danvers, 2219 Blanshard, injured when he ran into the side of a car turning left off Douglas onto Kings Road about 3.15 p.m. Also crossing the street in the crosswalk was his twin brother, Alan, who spotted the car and ran back to safety. Both are in Grade 1 at North Ward.

MINOR INJURIES

John was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, treated for minor injuries and returned home.

Alan said John was looking backward as he ran across the intersection. After the accident the boys were worried about the banging John's new lunch bucket received.

Police said the driver of the car was Irene Gehring, 2845 Rita.

LONGER PATROLS

Thomas Smith, chairman of the safety committee for Victoria and District Parent-Teacher Council, said school crossing patrols should be retained at busy intersections for at least 20 minutes and possibly half an hour after school is dismissed.

On three successive days this week youngsters have been struck by cars at busy intersections within minutes of the dismissal of the school crossing patrol at 3.10 p.m.

PRINCIPALS TO MEET

District schools superintendent John Gough said principals of all elementary schools in Greater Victoria would be called immediately, and the question would be discussed at a principals' meeting Monday.

Mr. Gough said "very serious consideration" would be given to retaining school crossing patrols on duty longer at certain schools and certain intersections.

GOOD PROTECTION

Mr. Smith said school patrols kept alert and holding their warning flags up high so that motorists can't miss seeing them, provide good protection for pupils in traffic.

He suggested size of the present flags used by school patrols might be doubled, and added, "We think it would be a good idea if a teacher was at busy intersections to provide supervision."

AVAILABLE

All three accidents involving school children this week, said Mr. Smith, probably could have been avoided if school patrols had been on duty at the time.

Meanwhile, police expressed concern at the general increase in traffic accidents on Victoria streets last month, and Chief Constable John Blackstock warned motorists and pedestrians alike to use more care.

HIGH TOTAL

October figures for the city show a total of 126 accidents compared with an average for the past 10 years of between 90 and 100.

"Naturally, weather is a factor—but it is a factor of which the driver in particular should be especially aware," the police chief said.

"He should be sure his windshield wipers and defroster are working properly—and not drive until he can see properly. He should check his tires and avoid driving on smooth rubber."

BAD PICTURE

"The October picture was a bad one, ending with 16 accidents last weekend alone."

"Now November has started with three youngsters involved in collisions with cars on the first three days of this week."

Twin Saw Brother Injured

Prisoners Refuse To Work in Rain

VANCOUVER (CP)—Warden Hugh Christie said Tuesday 62 Oakalla prisoners have staged passive sit-down strikes in protest against daily chores.

He said the strikers were immediately segregated and deprived of privileges. Fifteen decided to return to work.

"The transition of summer to winter is not good in prison because the inmates have to go outside to work in rain," he said.

"The east wing, which includes mostly addicts and habitual delinquents, had 62 of the 200 who refused to work in the rain."

Christie said the prisoners wear raincoats, rain hats, waterproof trousers and rubber boots.

How Sick? Is Question

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Victorian Order of Nurses has been hired by suburban Richmond council to check on absent employees to make sure they are really sick.

Gas, Germ Armory To Double

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The defence department plans to more than double its spending on weapons for gas and germ warfare during the next few years, army sources said yesterday.

Historically, U.S. policy is to use these weapons only in self-defence.

The non-lethal chemical weapons could temporarily immobilize enemy troops or populations in enemy cities without permanent damage.

Unionists Can't Afford Union-Made Clothes

WINNIPEG (CP)—Union leaders here have been told that many union members can't afford to wear union-made clothes.

A difference of opinion on whether the opinion is correct arose Tuesday night at a meeting of the Winnipeg and district Trades and Labor Council.

Railway Brotherhood representative William Brown recalled that several years ago a labor reporter discovered several union officials wearing suits that weren't union-made.

"Many union members can't pay the higher price for union-made suits, and we must get the wages higher for these men so they can afford the suits," he said.

NEW TOUGH LAWS FOR B.C. LABOR?

Steady Hedges, Denies 'Bombshell'

By PETER BRUTON

Agriculture Minister Newton P. Steady has reportedly told farmers' representatives B.C.'s controversial Bill 43 was "just the beginning" and the government is preparing tougher labor legislation.

The minister, asked for confirmation, hedged a little before denying the report.

His bombshell was allegedly dropped at a meeting here with the advisory board of farmers' institutes Tuesday.

BOARD SHOCKED

Informed sources said the board was "shocked" by the disclosure.

Bill 43, passed in 1959, restricts the rights of unions to picket premises and makes unions legal entities which can be sued for damages.

Mr. Steady was said to have made the remark "to illustrate a point."

PRESSING ISSUES

Members of the board made a number of recommendations on the most pressing problems of agriculture in B.C. They had planned a statement on the meeting but were ordered not to do so by Mr. Steady.

Sources said the board agreed to abide by the ruling because it did not want to get "off-side" with the new minister.

RESIGN SOON?

Mr. Steady, defeated Sept. 12, is expected to resign shortly. (He said yesterday he expected official duties would keep him out of Victoria until early December.)

The board was reportedly disappointed Mr. Steady called the meeting before a new minister was named.

PRACTICE HALTED

Former practice was for the board to present recommendations to the legislative committee on agriculture, made up of M.L.A.s of all parties. But Mr. Steady ordered this stopped amid an outcry from farmers.

"It's strictly a matter of internal discussions between the board and the department," he said.

NEVER POLICY

The government would consider the recommendations and might use some but "these recommendations are a matter of government policy and we never discuss policy."

However, it was learned one recommendation called on B.C. to do everything in its power in conjunction with the federal government to alleviate the cost-price "squeeze" on farmers.

Another urged "extreme vigilance" with regard to the importation of lamb and its grading so that imported mutton—would be sold as mutton and not lamb.

The board also asked the government to take over the East Kootenay Power Co. and place it in the hands of the B.C. Power Commission.

EXPROPRIATION

The government was also requested to enact a new expropriation act to ensure a person's property was not taken away unfairly.

Another recommendation was that long-term, low-interest loans be made available in B.C. for capital works as is the case in the prairie provinces.

Ike to Rescue Says Kennedy

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower led a massive Republican onslaught on New York yesterday in a major effort to swing the state's crucial 45 electoral votes to Vice-President Richard Nixon.

Sen. John Kennedy immediately taunted that the Republicans had sent Eisenhower out to lead a "rescue squad" for Nixon.

(See other stories on Page 8.)
It was the president's biggest effort yet on behalf of his vice-president and potential successor, and came in a state where some polls show that the lead right now is held by Kennedy.

KEY STATES

With the election only six days off, both presidential candidates were concentrating their fire on states with the biggest electoral votes of all. While Nixon was in New York, Kennedy was stumping California, whose 32 electoral votes are matched only by Pennsylvania.

The Eisenhower and Nixon New York campaign included a blizzard-like ticker-tape parade up Broadway, two huge rallies, and frankly political speeches by the president.

FACES CHOICE

Eisenhower said that on election day the nation may face a choice between "the cataclysm of war" and "the principles that made the United States great."

He said that "Richard Nixon and Cabot Lodge offer the finest type of leadership available to this nation."

For his part, Nixon declared, with the president at his side, that "Henry Cabot Lodge and I have been with the president, have been in his presence when great decisions were made."

It was the president's joint appearance with Nixon and Lodge yesterday that provided Kennedy with speech ammunition in his tour of California.

Kennedy said he was reminded of trained elephants in the circus which hook themselves together in a trunk-grasping arrangement.

"You know how they travel around by grabbing the tail of the elephant in front of them," Kennedy told his audiences. "In 1952 and 1956, Mr. Nixon was hanging on tight—but now Mr. Nixon is the candidate."

Starving Bears Invade Suburbs of Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Brown bears, small, hungry and for the most part harmless, are turning up in garbage cans, fruit trees, back gardens and even streets and bridges in suburban North and West Vancouver.

Some are shot by police while others are taken into custody by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

PAINTED

In the latter case they are slapped with a paintbrush full of luminous paint and sent back to the mountains.

The SPCA, which violently objects to the shooting of the animals, says the bears are being driven out of the mountains behind north shore municipalities by a lack of food. It is the first time since 1932 there has been any problem.

The lack of food is caused by heavier than usual rains in this normally rainy area and a construction boom is moving houses higher up the mountains.

Several bears have been shot as they scamped up trees and telephone poles; others have been captured by unique methods.

One man phoned the SPCA to report there was one in his garbage can.

"Sit on it," said the SPCA—so the man clamped the lid on the can and sat there until a truck arrived to take the bear away.

Sunday a cub tried to cross the busy new Second Narrows Bridge to Vancouver. Some adventurous youths captured it and held it for the SPCA.

Three persons were bitten and scratched while capturing the cub. One of them was SPCA inspector Joseph Cookson, who later fumed upon hearing a report that the cub was being held for a rabies check.

NONSENSE

"Nonsense. The bear's natural tendency was to defend himself."

Mr. Cookson suggests a solution to the food problem for next year—ask all the big department stores to let the organization truck their garbage up to the mountains.

Mr. Hughes says the problem will not last much longer this year—the bears are already starting to go into hibernation.

Tail-lights for horses may soon be compulsory in Saanich.

A bylaw which includes lights for horses will be coming before Saanich municipal council.

Robert Gillette, proprietor of the Lake Hill Lunch, who is a horseman himself, has invented a battery-powered light to be hung at the back of a saddle.

He has applied for a patent on it, and Cyclos Oil Burner Co. of Victoria is ready to start manufacturing the gadget as soon as there is a demand. Saanich police chief Bert Pearson believes that lights on horses should be compulsory. More and more people are riding for pleasure, and a number of them are riding alongside highways at night.

"You hear it said that there are more horses than cows in Saanich now," the chief says. "There have already been several accidents involving horses on the road in daylight."

Says inventor Gillette: "I started it because I went out one night to meet my wife, who was riding. I drove right past her without seeing her at all."

Scintillate the First

The Gillette's dark-brown thoroughbred mare, Scintillate, will be the first horse equipped with lights.

Later, Mr. Gillette hopes his gadget will sell all over Canada.

Another Victoria inventor is daily Colonist desk man and car expert John T. Jones.

Some time ago John was in an accident which left him with a badly cut face. As the stitches were being painfully removed, he said to himself: "There must be a better way."

He hatched a gadget which not only cuts surgical stitches without pulling, but also grips one of the severed ends.

He made a working model, and secured a patent. Now he and his lawyer are negotiat-

Canadian Feeling

"Canada is fortunate in having the two cultures," says Claude Aveline, distinguished French writer who has been visiting Victoria.

He believes that a blend of the cultures and a partnership of the cultures will produce a distinctively Canadian feeling, quite strong enough to offset the cultural pressure of the United States.

L'Alliance Francaise, the organization which sponsored M. Aveline's visit, is dedicated to the cause of bilingualism and friendship between French-speaking and English-speaking Canadians.

L'Alliance, which marks its 50th anniversary this year, aims to persuade an increasing number of Canadians to learn French at an early age and speak it naturally and with pleasure.

"It's important that English-speaking people who know some French should try to improve their knowledge of the language," says M. Aveline. He is a novelist, essayist and writer of short stories and detective stories. During the German occupation of France he was a leader of the Resistance.

Last night M. Robert Picard, French consul-general from Vancouver, opened an exhibit of French children's books and books of art at Victoria art gallery.

Sleeping Hours For Children Can Be Varied

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, MD

"Dear Doc Molner: What time should children of 11, 10 and eight years of age go to bed?—K.K."

Before we get onto that subject, I'll let you in on a secret. Some doctors don't mind being called "doc" and some do mind, and some kind of like it. Me? I don't care—I guess maybe in my mind it depends on the tone of voice.

Just thought I'd mention it, for believe it or not, doctors are people, and there's just as much variation in them as in others. Some men like to be called by their first names and others don't. Some youngsters warm up to you right away if you say "Hi, Buster," others are affronted and go formal, saying, "My name is Harold!"

THAT'S THAT

So much for unimportant things.

What time should children go to bed? It depends on what time they have to get up. What they need is sleep, not a fixed hour for bedtime.

Regular habits of going to bed and getting up are important to a child, but depending on school, parents' working hours, and so on, there's some degree of variation. Some youngsters have to get up earlier than others, so they should go to sleep earlier.

AT LEAST 10

The 11-year-olds and 10-year-olds need at least 10 hours sleep as a rule. Some need more. Some can get by with a little less. For an eight-year-old, I'd add an extra hour.

Assuming that the youngsters have to get up somewhere around 7 a.m. on school days, I'd say the older two should be in bed by 9 p.m. and the younger one somewhat earlier.

INTENSE BURN

In this you must be guided by what you see in the children. Brothers and sisters of about the same age sometimes vary in the amount of sleep they need. The intense energy-burning child may need an hour or more of sleep than the youngster who, by natural bent, takes life at an easier pace.

Sometimes the youngster who becomes super-lively, or even, say, smart-alecky, in the evening, is often going on his nerves and needs to be soothed off to bed.

BOTH AT ONCE

With a youngster of 10 and another of 11, it might well be that you have to send both to bed at about the same time, since they are about the same age.

The eight-year-old ought to be headed for bed a little sooner, I'd say. Maybe an hour sooner, maybe half an hour. Maybe, depending on circumstances and individual differences, even less. But you know how it is with 10-year-olds. They say, "Gee, why do I have to go to bed when Bobby does? He's only eight and I'm 10!"

If, in your good judgment, you still have to send the older ones to bed only 20 minutes after the youngest one has gone—well, you've saved the pride of the 10-year-old. And that's important, too.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is it proper to have dentures the same day your teeth are pulled?—Mrs. K.M."

There are several reasons for doing this: to maintain facial appearance; to maintain gum ridge (otherwise it shrinks); to keep the correct bite or way in which the teeth meet; to prevent patients from falling into improper eating habits which are difficult to correct later. Doubtless there are other reasons in some cases, but remember, I am not a dentist and do not pretend to know all the many points involving dentistry.

U.S. Mines Fence Cuba Base

HAVANA (AP) — The U.S. Navy's chief in the Caribbean disclosed Wednesday American mine fields were planted a few weeks ago along the fence enclosing the 45-square-mile Guantanamo naval base—just in case.

"The mine fields are labelled plainly," said Rear-Admiral Allen Smith. "Dr. Castro has stepped up his tempo and we have taken steps accordingly."

He said his forces at the base are strong enough to repel any attack until reinforcements can be sent—perhaps for 72 hours.

President Osvaldo Dorticos said, meanwhile, that President Eisenhower's announced firm stand on Guantanamo was intended only to justify "an armed aggression against our country."

Dorticos implied the U.S. lease on the big naval base can be abrogated without any need for U.S. consent, which is counter to the American stand.

"Have these gentlemen in Washington forgotten that all that is needed is the agreement of the Cuban people?" he asked.

But he reiterated Cuba will not try to take the base by force.

Both Premier Castro and Foreign Minister Raul Roa asserted earlier that Guantanamo now is the centre of aggression against Cuba.

Previously the main theme of the invasion warnings was that men, ships and planes allegedly were being grouped in Guatemala for an attack on Cuba.

A-Weapons Trouble Harkness, NATO

BONN, West Germany (CP) — Defence Minister Douglas Harkness Wednesday discussed with NATO officials the troubling question of acquisition and control of nuclear weapons.

Discussion on this is believed the main reason for Harkness' 10-day European visit. He arrived here Wednesday after talks in Paris with NATO Secretary-General Paul-Henri Spaak and Gen. Lauris Norstad, NATO chief, and will meet today his German counterpart, Franz Josef Strauss.

Canada is about the only country in NATO which does not yet have some kind of bilateral agreement with the U.S. on storage and control of nuclear weapons.

External Affairs Minister Green has opposed Canadian acquisition of nuclear weapons since this would be inconsistent with disarmament talks.

Canadian armed forces feel they must be armed with the

'We're Just People'

VANCOUVER (CP) — The great - great - grand-daughter of Indian Chief Joseph Brant of Ontario's Six Nations said here Tuesday Canada's Indians want to think for themselves.

Speaking to a meeting sponsored by the Vancouver Citizenship Council, Vancouver Civic Unity and Native Indian Service Councils, Mrs. Ethel Brant Monture said: "I think we Indian people must have closed sessions and thrash out our problems ourselves."

She said ideas by whites on Indian welfare often are good, "but they're not our ideas."

IN OWN MINDS

She warned young Indians in the audience so-called prejudices against them were often in their own minds.

Mrs. Monture, an authority on Indian culture and history, also develops leadership within Indian communities.

She told the meeting her dream for the Indian people is to have everyone in Canada become just a Canadian citizen.

OWN FAULT

"If you young people don't take your places as full Canadian citizens within your own lifetime, it will be your own fault," she said.

"We were not the cruel fiends of American historian Francis Parkman, nor the noble savages dreamed up by writers across the ocean. We were just people."

HENRY WENZEL

Trapped Miner Tried To Cut Off Own Arm

VANCOUVER (CP) — A 44-year-old miner trapped 5,000 feet down in a mine attempted to amputate his own crushed arm with a pocket knife.

"It was the only thing to do," Henry Wenzel said Wednesday in an interview in hospital a day after he was rescued from the Howe Sound Copper Mine at Britannia, 25 miles north of here.

His arm was cut off six hours after he was trapped by a young doctor who used only a pair of scissors.

Wenzel said he severed some tendons and cut through the skin with his knife but when the blade reached a nerve the pain was too excruciating to continue.

He had been trapped when an underground movement caused the cave-in. His left arm was broken just below the shoulder when a broken beam fell on it.

"I fell into a hole... my light had gone, out but I could feel my arm resting in my lap — the bone was crushed and it was hanging only by skin and tendons."

"So I reached into my back pocket and got my knife... it was the only thing to do."

Meanwhile, Dr. Barrie Flather said in another interview he was told when called to the scene that the miner was not severely hurt.

But when he got to the miner at the end of a 62-foot tunnel dug through rubble by frantic miners he found that the arm would have to come off.

"I had my little black bag with me, but we don't usually carry surgical equipment in them. I did have a small first-aid kit and the scissors."

"It would have taken an hour to get more equipment

Led January Uprising

Paris, Algiers Tense On Eve of Trial of 20

PARIS (Reuters) — Police in Paris and Algiers Wednesday night prepared extensive security precautions to maintain order during the trial of 20 leaders of an abortive anti-Gaule uprising last January.

The military trial opens in Paris today — a day before President de Gaulle's scheduled broadcast to the nation.

Four of the 20 defendants, who revolted against de Gaulle in Algiers Jan. 24, will be tried in absentia. One of the missing revolt leaders is 43-year-old Joseph Ortiz, last reported in Spain's Balearic Islands.

One of the chief accused to be presented in court is red-bearded former paratroop officer Pierre Lagallarde, 29.

The defendants are accused of acts against the internal security of the state, building street barricades and defiance of police.

The revolt leaders had demanded a tougher policy in crushing the six-year-old Algerian Moslem war for independence.

Extensive barriers were being erected Wednesday night around the courts of justice in central Paris, where the trial will be held. Plainclothes police will mount guard on the roof.

Tension also rose in Algiers on the eve of the trial.

USE OUR CONVENIENT LAY-AWAY PLAN

Purveyors of Gloom

ONCE again our home-grown pundits are indulging in what surely must be Canada's oldest pastime by warning us that we are in immediate danger of losing our national identity.

They see the threat of this lurking behind every foreign dollar invested in our country, behind every foreign magazine sold across our counters and behind our every purchase of a foreign designed or foreign made car.

What nonsense. Nations all over the world are continually and avidly seeking foreign capital to help develop their countries even to the extent of making special tax adjustments and forgoing royalties in order to attract outside money. Such investment helps a country grow, creates employment and adds to the general prosperity and well-being of its citizens. It is looked upon as a desirable thing, not something fraught with danger aimed at viciously undermining the sovereignty of the people.

Yet because Canada has been the most fortunate of all countries in this field, it is looked upon as a sinister policy, fatal to our economy and a herald of national disaster.

Apart from these warnings of economic bankruptcy, we are now being told that as a people we are becoming less and less Canadian because we are falling more and more under the influence of the American way of life.

Balderdash. Because we share the North American continent with a number of other people, living under similar conditions, is there any reason why we should not adapt, or even adopt, any of their ideas which suit us? Do these self-styled prophets really believe that because we drive American-style automobiles we somehow become less Canadian?

Does Adlai Stevenson become any less American because he speaks English and has his suits tailored in London? Does Premier Lumumba become a partisan of Dr. Verwoerd because his bow-tie was made in Johannesburg? Does Sir Winston Churchill support Dr. Castro's regime because he enjoys a Havana cigar? The answers are obvious.

It is perhaps comforting to know that these professional purveyors of gloom have always been with us, ever willing to dispense their dismal wares to their fellow Canadians.

Let them continue if they will, but let us hope that the day is not too distant when their macabre hobby will disappear like the yo-yo and the hula-hoop and other equally edifying pastimes.

Prospects in Esquimalt

IT looks as though quality candidates are lining up in preparation for the Esquimalt-Saanich federal seat made vacant by General Peckes' elevation to Government House. No doubt that will please the voters of this riding, who enjoyed for many years the prestige of returning so distinguished a member to the House of Commons.

The entry of Captain Harold Groos, well-known naval officer, as an aspirant for the Liberal nomination brings a fresh figure to the political scene, and it is an earnest of his intentions that he should abandon a successful naval career in order to enter public life. This is a venture to his credit.

Mr. Einar Gunderson, the former B.C. finance minister and a leading figure in social circles, is also considering a federal debut in this local constituency. He would be a lonely MP at Ottawa were he to win, since social representation there is currently a blank, but of his ability to carry the banner of his party there can be no doubt. He is a man of some weight.

The Conservative choice is not yet narrowed down but there have been reports that Mr. John Peckes, the youthful lawyer son of Esquimalt-Saanich's long-standing member, may enter the lists. Here also there would be candidature of substance, for he will have absorbed over the years the ethos and experience of his father and must be privy to much political lore and knowledge. In his own person he is bright and active and could serve the Conservative cause with warrant.

No mention has been made of the likely entrant from the socialist ranks, whether under the label of CCF or New Party. Obviously a strong contender will have to be found to match comparison with those cited as probable standard bearers of the other groups.

Other names will possibly be forthcoming for the Esquimalt-Saanich by-election, for this is a prize to stimulate aspirants in all political parties. Enough has emerged however to suggest that the competition will be keen and vigorous, and that the voters will be offered a choice between several candidates of worthwhile capacity.

Trivial Complaint

THE Greater Victoria intermunicipal committee, is wasting its time when it makes footing complaints such as that recorded at this week's meeting over the scribbles and pencils distributed free to primary grade school children. The committee also should have gone more carefully into the facts before making an official request to the school board to stop issuing the supplies.

The $671 put up entirely by the provincial government for scribbles and pencils for Grade 1 pupils in Greater Victoria this year is in conformity with policy of the department of education designed to ensure that all these beginners start school with the same materials. The scribbles are not just blocks of gummed-together newspaper for the youngsters to doodle on; they are of good paper ruled in a special way to fit into the lessons, which couldn't be carried through properly if each child brought from the corner store any old kind of scribbler that happened to be available.

From the remarks of Reeve Murdoch of Oak Bay it would appear also as if the scale of issue was one pad and one pencil per child, which he referred to as "a matter of 10 cents." The fact is that each pupil receives four scribbles and three pencils to last the year. If the speaker had paused to think for a moment he should have realized that the expenditure of $671 at 10 cents per pupil would mean that there are 6,710 Grade 1 pupils in the district—more than three times the real figure.

Making a formal issue of trivialities like this is silly, especially at a time when there are far more serious matters connected with education demanding study.

Interpreting the News

Tackling the Big Powers

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN, Canadian Press Staff Writer

CANADA's proposals on disarmament should provide a fairly accurate test of just how much attention the nuclear club bestows on the countries without the bomb.

At the United Nations, one school of thought says the Soviet Union and the United States—these two particularly—care not at all what any other country thinks about disarmament, since the ultimate power is in their hands.

Britain and France, it is said in this thinking, also are inclined to deprecate the importance of middle and smaller powers—although Britain courts support among non-nuclear countries in its campaign to reopen disarmament negotiations.

Canada's External Affairs Minister Green obviously doesn't belong to this school of thought, because the main thesis of this proposal, to the UN Tuesday, was that the middle and smaller powers may be able to bring a decisive weight of influence on the great powers.

Modern diplomacy, in the Green view, is conducted in a glass bowl and no country—regardless of power—can ignore world opinion. Soviet Premier Khrushchev demonstrated this by coming to the UN and conducting a campaign which, in his view, would enhance the Russian image among smaller countries.

Green said that his proposal with its central theme of a UN group to watch over a disarmament body—was not intended to be controversial.

"It seeks neither to endorse the position of any one side, nor to cast criticism in any one direction," said Green, plumping simply for a renewal of negotiations.

Of the seven resolutions now before the 99-member UN political committee, the Canadian proposal seems the most adventurous attempt to pull the problem away from the complete control of the main antagonists in the cold war.

So-called neutralist countries—including India, with its high prestige, Indonesia and the United Arab Republic—have already been defeated in their request for new summit talks between the U.S. and Russia.

Attention now will be focussed on whether the Canadian draft will command any support from the great powers.

Thinking Aloud

of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

I HAVE been reading a little booklet put out by the Commonwealth-American unit of the English Speaking Union on electing the U.S. president. The procedures are interesting in their difference from our own system of federal elections.

By our standards they are more complicated, too, although the American voter takes them in his stride. It is only to outsiders they might seem peculiar.

To begin with, the elections next Tuesday are really state elections. For instance the people of Washington, D.C., have no vote at all; the capital is not part of a state.

Nor is there uniformity of voter qualification, the law's differing from state to state. As an example the voting age in Georgia and Kentucky is 18, but 21 elsewhere. The minimum residential requirements also vary greatly, and this accounts for comment sometimes on the relatively low voting figures that result.

An election ballot may be rather a fearsome thing according to our lights. It may contain up to 60 names in some states. This because the election covers various government levels: president, senators, congressmen, judges, mayors, sheriffs, county officials, etc.

To ease the burden some states employ voting machines, whereby a voter may cast the straight party ticket by pulling a big lever. Or he can pull smaller levers—set above candidates' names for all offices—moving from one party to another as he sees fit.

This is known as "splitting the ticket."

To quote the booklet: "If he has no strong party allegiance he may well look to the top of the list to the name of the presidential candidate of his choice and pull the lever of the voting machine or place a cross so as to vote for the entire list headed by the presidential choice. In this way, the other candidates have 'been given a ride on the coat-tails' of the presidential candidate."

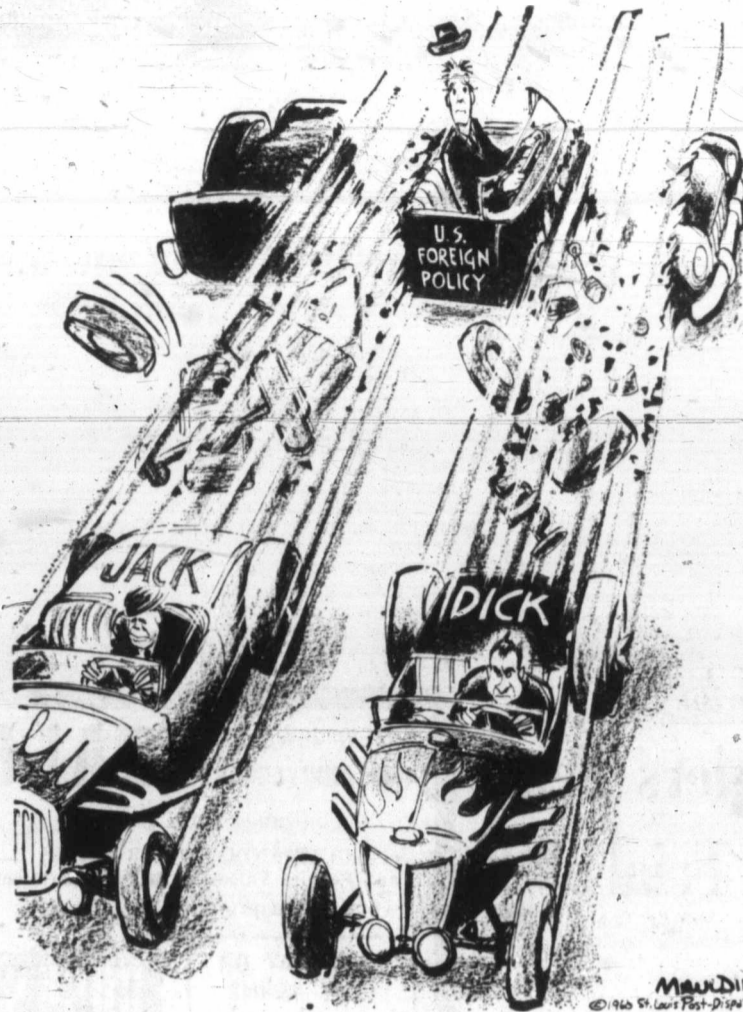

The presidential ballot itself varies according to state. In some cases only the names of the presidential electors appear on the ballot paper and not the names of the presidential candidate. Most states indicate which presidential candidate the electors are committed to support. A few states print only the names of the candidates.

Theoretically, you see, the U.S. voter does not vote directly for a presidential candidate but for his state member of the electoral college. This derives from the early beginnings of U.S. federation when presumably, the mass of ordinary voters were not considered knowledgeable enough to select a president.

Originally the college was free of choice whom it pleased, but custom now makes it mandatory for the college electors to abide by the preference shown by the voters of their respective states.

Each state has a block of electoral college votes equal to its total representation in Congress. If the majority public vote in a state next Tuesday is for Nixon, for instance, that state's electors must make Nixon their presidential choice.

The election of the winning presidential candidate by the electoral college takes place on Dec. 19, but this will be a mere formality. The will of the people will be known on Tuesday night.

Reports from Ottawa

UNTIL 10.15 on the morning of October 26 the basic split among the entities of government in this country was along partisan lines.

Fifteen minutes later, after a short statement of "suggestions" by Prime Minister Diefenbaker, a chasm yawned between the federal government on one hand and all the provinces on the other.

The new cleavage paled political differences among the provinces—so much so that plans are now moving forward for a provincial summit conference at Quebec in December. Until Diefenbaker's speech, the mid-summer proposal of such a parley, made by Quebec Premier Jean Lesage, had met with lukewarm response from the Conservative premiers of Ontario, Manitoba, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island. Premiers Frost, Roblin, Stanfield and Shaw saw little profit for them in a conference that would appear as a provincial ganging up on their ally, friend and leader, John Diefenbaker.

Now their ally, friend and leader has dismissed their claims for greater shares of the tax fields that Ottawa occupies jointly with the provinces. He has yanked the rug out from under the whole structure of provincial rental of tax rights to Ottawa in return for equitable payments. He has said that if the provinces want more money, they should impose their own taxes—in effect, double taxation. He has proposed a freeze on federal "equalization payments" to the provinces—payments that attempt to give the poor provinces a better break by diverting to them some of the tax revenues raised in the wealthy provinces.

Diefenbaker gave his provincial allies no inkling in advance of what he was going to do. He didn't seek their opinion or advice. Despite their common Toryism, he put them in the same class as the recalcitrant Smallwoods and Bennetts.

If the premiers now decide in summit conference assembled that their interests will best be served by making common cause against Ottawa, partisan loyalties notwithstanding, it will be a decision of the greatest political importance. And not only in the partisan sense of the word "political." You can't, as Diefenbaker proposes to do, rip out the stitches of 15 years of sewing on the fabric of Confederation and have the garment fit as it is used.

It is too early to tell whether the federal proposal to end the tax sharing scheme when present agreements expire 16 months hence is an unshakable decision or a bargaining gambit. That is literally the billion-dollar question—and the answer is anybody's guess.

One of its effects, to be sure, has been to undermine and topple the premiers' demands of July for increased rental payments that Finance Minister Fleming said would bring their bill to $2,000,000,000 a year. Now the premiers may come humbly to heel and agree to sign up for another five years on terms only slightly better than those now in effect.

Or they may not. They may unite and fight—not Diefenbaker, for he is only the federal front in this game, but Donald Fleming, the brain behind the federal coup.

Whatever happens, I expect a sepulchral chuckle or two from a year-old grave at Trois Rivières.

The Packsack

All Others Beware

By GREGORY CLARK

MY worst scare of 1960 occurred the other afternoon while driving peacefully along in orderly traffic and everything under control. Suddenly from a side street a car that had been standing waiting for a break in order to turn left made a wild jump. The two cars ahead of me not only had to jam on brakes, they had to swerve, one towards the curb, the other leftward into the downcoming traffic. In the downcoming stream, three cars had to go through the same gyrations. I got stopped and received only a slight bump from behind. But there were a good many screeching tires and mild clashes of collision.

The offending car, turning into the down stream, sailed away. But not until I had got a glimpse of its driver: an elderly, red-faced man with an elderly lady sitting serenely beside him.

Nobody got his number. A policeman who witnessed the shemoozie came and asked us if anybody had got the car's number. Nobody had.

"Those dang elderly drivers!" said the constable. "They must figure everybody else will look out for them."

And we do, with the resulting quivers.

(From The Toronto Telegram)

A RUGGED westerner wearing a 10-gallon hat has been sounding off in Toronto about the growth of tipping in eastern Canada. He obviously feels we are weaklings, ready to pay a surly waitress or a skinkily bartender even for the privilege of being sloppily served.

Of course, he is right. Who would face the ire of an aroused waitress, her thumb perhaps still smarting from the heat of the soup? Who could bear to be thought a piker or a skinkily by the dewy-eyed teenager who gets the order all mixed up and delivers it cold?

It's not as easy as Hugh C. Craig, president of the Canadian Restaurant Association, thinks. This no-tipping business may go over all right in Alberta where a bar owner can count himself lucky if the cowhands don't wreck the place in a fight after the faro game. But not in effete old Ontario.

The dictionary says a tip is "a small present of money given to an inferior." Around Toronto, a customer may be made to feel inferior if he doesn't tip.

But it's nice to know that a restaurant man thinks we should cut down on the tipping, even if we haven't the nerve to follow his advice.

Measures Of Progress

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WHAT are the measures of national well-being and vitality that add up to prestige and leadership in the world? This is one of the most hotly debated questions in the United States election campaign.

Military strength, missiles, the nuclear striking power may be ways of measuring. But a report just compiled by the Children's Bureau in the department of health, education and welfare points to a far less spectacular but nonetheless significant yardstick by which the advanced nations of the West have measured progress.

The report shows that in recent years the United States has dropped from sixth place to tenth place in infant mortality—the number of deaths per thousand of children under one year of age. While the rate of deaths had declined from 1950 into 1956 it has risen sharply since then. In 1958 it was 27.1 per 1,000 and the increase is believed to be continuing.

Lack of sufficient medical care and overcrowding and slum conditions in the large cities are among the reasons suggested by bureau specialists for the increase. For 1950-58 the over-all decline in the United States was 7.2 per cent. This is less than half the rate of decrease of the nine countries that today rank higher than the U.S.

"With a decreasing ability to tax and an increasing need for public services and with the ratio of physicians to population declining, cities face a serious problem in attacking the weak spots behind the mortality figures," Drs. Alice D. Chenoweth and Eleanor P. Hunt of the Children's Bureau report. "This calls for more efficient use of medical and nursing manpower."

Of the nine countries that outrank the U.S. each has a lower per capita income than the U.S. and a lower productivity per man hour. They are, however, mostly smaller countries with far greater population uniformity and without the problems of overcrowding in America's big cities. The nine countries in the order in which they rank are: Sweden, Netherlands, Australia, Norway, Switzerland, Great Britain, Denmark, New Zealand and Finland.

Many countries, particularly in the underdeveloped areas, are not recorded by the United Nations or any other international organization because their statistics are not valid. The Soviet Union is not listed in the first 15 nations. Japan, with a rate of 34.6, is the only Oriental country on the list.

One thing each country in the top nine has in common is a health service supported in whole or in part by the state. The British, for example, have an extensive maternal and child health program. Sweden, heading the list with a rate of 15.8 deaths per 1,000, is frequently attacked in this country for having "socialized" medicine.

Last July, at the close of the Republican convention in Chicago, President Eisenhower at a breakfast of the Republican national committee assailed a "friendly European country" for its "tremendous record for socialistic operation, following a socialistic philosophy." While he did not name the country it was known that he referred to Sweden. It was learned that someone had put into his hand a magazine article on Sweden's welfare state measures.

Under this "socialistic philosophy," the president said, the rate of drunkenness and suicide had gone up "almost unbelievably." While he seemed unaware of it, the rate of suicide has always been high in the Scandinavian countries. The president drew the moral that the government should do only the things that people themselves cannot do at all or do so well in their individual capacities.

This being an election year it is possible that infant mortality as well as the "missile gap" will get into politics. Administration critics who have noted with dismay the trend in such significant social indicators ascribe it to the kind of stagnation and failure to move forward that Senator Kennedy has charged in many of his speeches.

They relate this, too, to the right-wing battle cry of "states' rights," pointing out the tremendous gap between the states with the lowest rate of infant mortality and those with the highest. Rhode Island comes at the top with 21.3 and Mississippi at the bottom with 44.3. Virginia, where Senator Harry Byrd is the prime apostle of states' rights, is No. 40.

In a campaign marked by sound and fury, signifying often all too little, one of the benefits may have been to focus national attention on which direction the country is moving. It will not be so easy in the future to push problems under the surface of outward prosperity.

Letters to the Editor

Alaska Panhandle

The so-called Alaska Panhandle was never a part of Alaska, nor was it ever owned by Russia, although sparsely settled by Russians. It was not included in the sale of Alaska by Russia to the United States in the 1860s. Presumably it was always part of B.C. but through laxity on the part of the province it was allowed to be usurped by the United States in 1903.

This territory extends southerly some 600 miles, and is populated by many Indian settlements, the largest of which are at Skagway, Ketchikan, Wrangell and Juneau (present capital of Alaska); all of these larger settlements came into prominence during and after the Yukon rush to the Klondike gold fields in 1897.

For some years past, British Columbia has been seeking to gain a corridor through this territory to serve northern B.C. and the Yukon.

Now that the St. Lawrence Seaway has been completed through the combined efforts of the governments of Canada and the U.S., and further, in a like manner the Columbia River Basin project is being consummated, this last problem of great importance should be dealt with: that is, the restoration of the Alaska Panhandle to the province of B.C. As intricate and controversial as it might be, there is a way by which this matter can be solved by mutual consent.

The plan is this: The U.S. purchase this land from Alaska at a nominal price, these monies to be used in development of the state; then restore these lands to B.C. In return, B.C. agrees to build a highway from Hazelton through B.C. and the Yukon Territory to Alaska, and also build spur roads to the established towns at the coast; all of this to be in unison with the Wenner-Gren interests for the full development of northern B.C. including the incidental promotion of the Yukon Basin power project.

Tip for Smokers

While in England some 18 months ago my attention was drawn to a full-page article in The Daily Mail devoted to cancer and its avoidance by those who smoked cigarettes. It was written by a doctor who had reputedly spent 30 years in such research work. This was the gist of it:

Never smoke excessively (not more than a pack a day); never smoke more than two-thirds of your cigarette, and finally, prick two holes on either side of the cigarette about half an inch from the end that you place in your mouth, and don't smoke beyond this point. Use a needle or pin for making the holes.

You will find that it makes no difference to the draught, smokes cooler, leaves no taste in the mouth, and the teeth do not become discolored.

It was this doctor's assertion that by pricking the holes you reduced the suction to the point where it was not possible to form the tar, and most of the nicotine escaped before it touched the mouth.

It was an old soldier's trick from the First World War, I understand, when the issue cigarettes were made of such vile tobacco that they had to reduce their strength, but it is so simple and effective that it is a wonder that it has not been more widely publicized.

Broken Pledges

The white man should hang his head in shame when he hears that the Indians had to go to the government to ask for a return of their hereditary fishing rights.

When the southwest portion of Vancouver Island was sold to the white men for $200 ($200, mark you) the Indians made certain conditions, and these were agreed to and signed by Governor Douglas.

One condition was that their villages should be kept intact. This promise has been broken in the case of every village except East Saanich reserve. Roads have been put through Indian lands and villages have been broken up.

Another condition was that the Indians should be allowed to hunt and fish on their own and adjacent lands exactly as they had always been accustomed. The white man has taken no notice whatever of these promises.

According to the treaty no Indian should be obliged to pay any licence fee or be limited by laws as to where and how he can fish or hunt.

Will Minister Earle Westwood please take notice of this infringement of the long-time contract, and pass on the rebuke to the federal government if necessary?

Daily Sacrifice

On Nov. 11 we honor the memory of our dead in three wars for the 40th year, and we buy poppies for aid to the survivors through their Legions.

Included among these veterans are the living dead in DVA hospitals to the end of their lives since they were struck in combat in their youth, because so badly injured, and thus denied home life and normal living. They are paying the supremest sacrifice daily—living sacrifices—and should have for that, national recognition.

Trinidad Seaport

Leave Vital Naval Base West Indies to Ask U.S.

LONDON (UPI) — West Indies leaders will press tentative proposals today for U.S. withdrawal from the big Chaguaramas naval base on Trinidad.

The base is a major issue in a conference of Britain, the U.S. and various West Indies governments to discuss the future of U.S. defence installations on British-owned Caribbean islands now nearing independence.

VITAL LINK

The U.S. regards Chaguaramas as a vital link in its anti-submarine defences. It has a first-class deep seaport and a vast layout of installations that the West Indies would like to use as the site of the new capital of their island federation.

Use of the base would save the Trinidad government a vast outlay in building costs of a new capital.

WOULD SETTLE

The prime minister of Trinidad, Dr. Eric Williams, said Wednesday he would like to have the Americans move their base to another part of the island but probably would settle for partial withdrawal.

He said he would not be surprised if the U.S. proved willing to reduce the size of the base which, he claimed, is only in partial use now.

HAND BACK

His government insists the U.S. hand back what he called the "de-activated" areas. The U.S. acquired bases there in the West Indies in 1941 under a 99-year lease in return for 50 destroyers badly needed by Britain.

East Indians Give 200 Books to City

Victoria Public Library yesterday received a gift of 200 books from the city's East Indian community.

The books were presented by a delegation headed by Bhan Singh Hundal and Gurdial Singh Pannu, president and secretary of the community's library committee.

MOST IN PUNJABI

Although most of the books are in Punjabi and therefore cannot be read by the majority of library users, the hope is that they will draw more East

Indians to use the public library, said Mr. Hundal.

Almost all the titles and authors' names on the books are in Punjabi characters, but they have been transliterated in the catalogues, said librarian John Lort.

FEW IN ENGLISH

A few of the books are in English — notably the first volume of an English translation of the Guru Granth Sahib or Sikh "bible." The other three volumes will be obtained as they are published.

Doctors' Respect

Many Mourners Attend Rites for Coroner Hart

More than 100 mourners paid final tribute yesterday to Dr. E. C. Hart, 90, Victoria coroner for 62 years who died Monday in St. Joseph's Hospital.

Dr. Hart had practised medicine longer than any physician in the province — and a delegation at the service from the medical association indicated the respect of the profession for a man who had served humanity so long.

There were representatives, as well, of district police forces and the legal profession at the service, conducted at Hayward's funeral chapel by Rev. Alec Calder of Oak Bay United Church.

Pallbearers were Dr. Alec Gunning, John F. Clegg, Dr. J. H. Moore, H. W. Barber, Alan Fieldwater and Dr. L. Barty.

Red Delegate Dismisses Green Plan

SEVEN NATIONS

Seven African nations — Ethiopia, Ghana, Liberia, Nigeria, Somalia, Sudan and Tunisia — submitted a resolution to have Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld explore the possibility of calling a conference to draft an international treaty outlawing nuclear weapons as a means of waging war.

Luis Padilla Nervo of Mexico, chairman of the UN stance of the disarmament commission, question for at least several months to await a more favorable political climate.

Nielsen pleaded as Green did — for a resumption of negotiations interrupted June 27 in Geneva when Communist representatives walked out of a 10-nation East-West disarmament committee.

Ambassador Sivert A. Nielsen of Norway, following up a speech by External Affairs Minister Howard Green of Canada Tuesday, urged a United Nations committee to try to get East-West negotiations going again.

Norway and Sweden are co-sponsors of the Canadian resolution which received an "it's no-good" tag from Soviet Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin.

THIRD WEEK

Zorin made his comment to reporters outside the 99-member political committee of the 15th General Assembly, where disarmament debate is in its third week. He intimated that Canada was trying to get disarmament negotiations re-started without preparing a proper base. This is an illusion, the Russian said.

Although Green stressed that his resolution was not intended to point an accusing

Scrap Old Ideas

SALISBURY (Reuters) — Southern Rhodesian leaders yesterday were urged to suspend their political activities and form a national government dedicated to the preservation of basic human rights.

The call came from Sir Robert Tredgold, who resigned Tuesday as chief justice of the Rhodesia-Nyasaland federation. His resignation was intended as a protest to a Southern Rhodesia bill to increase the government's police powers in enforcing law and order.

SELF-GOVERNING

Southern Rhodesia is a self-governing British colony, federated with the British protectorate of Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland.

African nationalist leaders are demanding secession for the protectorates on grounds Southern Rhodesia is under white domination.

LOST CONFIDENCE

Tredgold said Africans have lost confidence in Sir Edgar Whitehead, premier of Southern Rhodesia, and "the same applies to many Europeans."

Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland, Tredgold added, would accept federation if Southern Rhodesia "put its house in order."

Charge followed an accident in which Stentafor, a pedestrian, died almost instantly of injuries when struck by a car on Goldstream Avenue at Spencer.

On Tuesday another jury returned a directed verdict of "not guilty" in the trial of Rex Howard, Victoria, accused of carnal knowledge of a female under the age of 14.

It was Howard's second trial for the offence, alleged to have occurred Aug. 18, 1959.

Flu Victim 'Potential Killer'

LONDON (CP) — Influenza can kill people before they even feel really ill.

The British Safety Council has found a direct link between flu and many deaths and injuries on the highways, at work and in the home.

The victim who does not feel enough to stay at home is a "potential killer" of himself and his workmates.

The council reported following an inquiry into the relationship between flu and accidents. Many accidents could be prevented if he were sent home at the first signs of influenza.

But the husband goes to work, his wife carries on with housework and shopping and the children go to school.

A man slammed his car door and trapped the fingers of his small son, permanently damaging two of them.

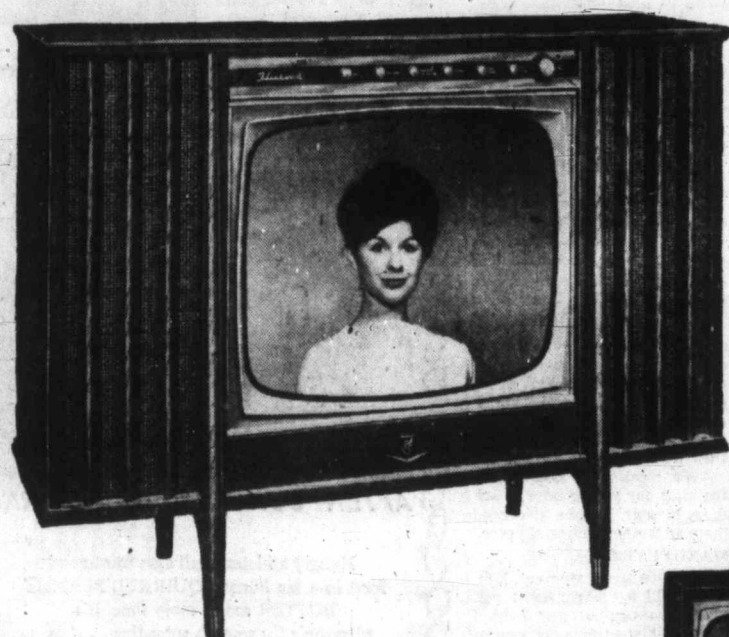

"I wasn't thinking," he said later. "Normally I always watch out for that sort of thing, but my head was a bit fuzzy at the time. I had a touch of flu coming on."

Judgment and efficiency are below par. The victim pays less and less attention to his actions. The sheer effort of trying to concentrate makes him more and more tired.

The announcement by Police Chief A. R. Bull said the suspension was "due to circumstances arising from the recent theft." He did not amplify his statement.

Const. Plotzky, 25, was alone in the street-level office of the police station when the holdup men walked in. He said he was slugged.

The money, belonging to a store, was in a steel box in a cupboard in the station, for weekend safe-keeping.

'Consultation' in Doubt

Britain Heads Off Dispute Over Control of Missiles

LONDON (CP) — Britain yesterday sought to avert an Anglo-American argument over the control of missiles carried by American Polaris submarines to be based at Holy Loch, Scotland.

Prime Minister Macmillan announced in the House of Commons Tuesday that the United States would not use the missiles without "the fullest previous consultation."

Surprised U.S. officials said in Washington the British States had made no direct commitment about fullest previous consultation with Britain.

The Earl of Home, Britain's foreign minister, told the House of Lords yesterday it appeared from press reports that Macmillan's words had been misinterpreted.

In reply to questions, Home declared: "It is quite clear from the prime minister's statement that although he is sure there would be consultation wherever possible, it could not necessarily be guaranteed in the case of an emergency."

The foreign secretary expressed confidence that, if there is any misunderstanding in Washington, it will be cleared up by a full reading of the text of Macmillan's statement.

He said Macmillan had pointed out it was not possible to make a Polaris agreement to match the one on U.S. air bases in Britain. The air base agreement calls for full consideration between the two governments before the use of nuclear weapons.

Waves Crash Over Roads Gales Lift U.K. Roofs

LONDON (CP) — Fierce gales howled across the British Isles yesterday, leaving a trail of torn roofs and toppled trees over areas already hit by floods.

Ships scurried for shelter from mountainous waves. One ship, the 6,859-ton Wellpark, was forced aground near Liverpool and lifeboats were sent to two other vessels in distress. Waves 40 feet high crashed over some roads around the coast.

At Belfast, 24 girls ran screaming from the top floor of a five-storey warehouse when the roof was plucked off in the wind. No one was injured.

Kennedy Quietly Confident

By GEOFFREY GOULD

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Senator Kennedy's camp is suffused with an air of quiet confidence in these final days of the U.S. presidential campaign, but there is no attempt to exploit it or display it ostentatiously.

Quite the reverse, in fact. It seems to be Kennedy's policy, and it is followed by all his aides, to avoid grandiose claims of victory.

The Kennedy people keep saying they expect the result to be close. They decline to claim easy victory in any state, though usually state party officials do it for them.

Nor do they try to make much of the huge and gleefully enthusiastic crowds Kennedy, the Democratic candidate, draws almost everywhere. They decline to issue their own crowd estimates or even solicit them from police officials.

Last weekend's news stories from the camp of Vice-President Nixon, the Republican nominee, gave a detailed rundown of how Nixon associates figure his chances in all sections of the country. There has been at least one report that Nixon himself was the source but stipulated the stories should not be attributed directly to him.

The Associated Press asked Pierre Salinger, Kennedy's press secretary, if the senator or any of his aides desired to give their own estimates state-by-state.

"We don't care to play that game," he replied.

The business of comparing crowd estimates has been called "crowdmanship" by Nixon. But Nixon, at almost every speaking stop these days, takes note of the crowd he has drawn or mentions one at a previous stop. He says if such a crowd turns out for him he is sure to carry that state.

He also often says he senses a strong tide running in his favor, that he is certain of victory.

Kennedy never mentions crowds in his speeches. He appears so eager to get his message across that he will

Kennedy Plan

'Peace Corps' To Help World

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Senator Kennedy proposed Wednesday night establishment of a peace corps in which young men could serve in underdeveloped nations for three years instead of being drafted for military duty in the U.S.

Warning that "the enemy advances now by non-military methods," he said the U.S. must have representatives abroad of greater talent and training, especially in the newly-emerging nations that need specialized help.

"We can push a button to start the next war but there is no push-button magic to bring a just and lasting peace," Kennedy said.

He was ending a final two-day bid for the 32 electoral votes of California, home state of his opponent, Vice-President Nixon.

WOMEN, TOO

Kennedy's proposed "peace corps" would be open to women as well as men and all its members would be well qualified through rigorous standards and well trained in the language, skills and customs they would need to know.

"We cannot discontinue training our young men as soldiers of war, but we also need them as ambassadors of peace."

MANOEUVRE

In a separate statement, Kennedy said a "transparent political manoeuvre" lies behind the administration's decision to release an additional $155,000,000 for development of the supersonic B-70 bomber.

"The Republican administration waits until a week before election. The objective is not to increase national defenses; it is to increase Republican votes."

Shampoo Strike Success

LONDON (CP) — Thirty-four striking women at a north London factory that manufactures a shampoo containing beer won a heady victory Wednesday.

The girls ended a strike when management agreed they could each drink a mug of free beer daily.

hardly even let a crowd roar its approval as long as it might want. He cuts it short and resumes his rapid fire delivery.

At each Nixon rally an aide finds a police official, and gets a crowd estimate from him. Then he circulates the figure and the official's name among the reporters covering the rally.

But the reporters sometimes find some of these estimates are greatly inflated by exuberant local officials.

Two Ties Tighten Up NHL Race

Unless Montreal Canadiens, as many expect, right themselves and start to pull away, it's going to be quite a scramble this season in the National Hockey League.

Chicago Black Hawks, figured to be the club which might unseat the Canadiens, continued to falter and were a bit lucky to get a 4-4 tie with New York Rangers as they had their winless streak extended to three games.

And in last night's other game, the fifth-place Boston Bruins picked up their sixth tie in 12 games by coming from behind to tie Toronto Maple Leafs, 2-2.

Results left Rangers still six points out of first place although in the basement and the first five clubs separated by only five points.

BACK TROUBLES

Rangers might have come out on top but for the fact that goalkeeper Lorne Worsley had to give it up after two periods because of back troubles.

Worsley had played brilliantly for two periods, and the Rangers had taken a 3-2 lead into the final 20 minutes. They started the third period with Jack McCartan in goal, gave the U.S. Olympic hero a 4-2 margin in the first minute. But the Hawks got two goals in the last 10 minutes, the tying shot less than three minutes from time, to get a point which broke a first-place tie with Canadiens.

Camille Henry led Rangers, scoring once and passing for two goals. Bill Hay had a goal and an assist for the Hawks.

Bronco Horvath gave the Bruins their point, giving them the lead in the first period with his sixth goal of the season, pulling them into the tie in the third period with his seventh.

It was the seventh game away from home without a win for the Bruins, who have won two and tied three of five games in Boston Gardens.

Weiss Steps Down Without Bitterness

George Weiss, the man given most of the credit with putting and keeping New York Yankees on top of the baseball world, is being replaced without the bitterness which followed when the Yankees asked manager Casey Stengel to step down because of age.

General manager of the Yankees since the pre-Stengel days, Weiss stepped down yesterday although he still had five years left on a seven-year contract.

"I wasn't fired," Weiss was quoted as he bowed to the Yankees' compulsory retirement plan for all employees over 65. "I don't think I'm less capable than I was, let's say."

"Obviously we must know exactly what is involved before we commit ourselves to such an undertaking," Spry said.

"As I understand it, each of the foreign clubs entering the ISL is given a guarantee, plus a certain percentage of gate receipts."

Fifteen top teams from Europe and South America have entered the ISL. Promoter Cox has stated that a Canadian team will definitely be in the 1961 version of the league, which had its baptism last summer.

Spry said the meeting would be within a week or 10 days.

Eskimos, Led by Parker Crush Stampede, 30-7

EDMONTON — Edmonton Eskimos, playing superbly for a superb Jackie Parker, last night convinced fans all across the country that they are still a Canadian football power by smothering Calgary Stampede, 30-7, in the first game of the two-game Western Inter-Provincial Football Union semi-final.

The second game is billed Saturday afternoon in Calgary but only the blindly loyal could give the Stampede a chance to even win that one much less make up 23 points, after what 16,018 Clarke Stadium fans saw last night.

They saw the Edmonton team with its fearsome threesome of Parker, Johnny Bright and Normie Kwong playing as well as it ever did and the rest of the Eskimos blocking crisply, tackling hard and playing it smartly and alertly all the way in an impressive display of strength.

NERVOUS CLUB

And they saw in the Stampede a jittery, nervous club which tackled woefully, which fumbled and stumbled when it hurt the most and which just couldn't come close to solving the problems posed by a Parker at his brilliant best.

It wasn't even as close as the score indicated although the Stampede did come to life in spurts in the second quarter to make game statistics, other than the final score, look reasonably creditable. But for a dropped pass midway through the second quarter, and lack of time for another play at the end of the half, the Eskimos would have had another touchdown and, probably, a field goal.

FUMBLING KICKOFFS

The Stampede, who had won six of seven games after Steve Owen took over as coach to beat B.C. Lions out of the third playoff spot, fumbled the first three kickoffs they received. They recovered the ball but it meant starting from deep in their own territory each time.

It was just part of the story in a bad first half. Edmonton started its first touchdown march after a Calgary punt travelled only 16 yards, got its second touchdown after the first of two interceptions and its third after the Stampede had missed a great chance to recover a fumble by Normie Kwong only 25 yards from the Eskimos' goal-line.

SLOPPY TACKLING

Adding to the Calgary woes was sloppy tackling which let Edmonton ball-carriers get away for gains when they seemed trapped and quarterback-Joe Kapp's tendency to go to the forward pass although Gene Filipski, Earl Lunsford and Don Stone were making headway on the ground.

The Eskimos had no such problems. After the Stampede had taken the opening kickoff from their 17-yard line to Edmonton's 47 on the ground, Kapp tried an unsuccessful forward pass and Ron Morris fumbled a punt which gave Eskimos the ball on their own 31.

BEST GAME

Parker took it from there with Kwong playing his best game of the season and Bright pulling along as usual to help him keep the Calgary defence off balance.

It took five plays to get the score. Kwong went for three yards. Parker rolled out for 17. Bright got nine, then 12 and after Kwong was stopped for one, Parker just stepped back and lobbed a pass, for Cowboy Woodruff in the end zone.

DEFENSIVE GIANT

Tommy-Joe Coffey converted for 70, and it was 14-0 three minutes later. Al Eucyer, a giant on defence, intercepted after Coffey had knocked Kapp's pass away from Ernie Warlick. There were 27 yards to go, Parker got 13 on a pass to Jim Letavits, Kwong 10 on a smash. Bright got two and Kwong was held for no gain as the Stampede stiffened, but they couldn't stop Bright a second time.

Eskimos ground it out in old-time fashion for their third score with Parker providing the big gains, going 103 yards in 13 plays.

Starting on his own seven, Parker got four. Then came Kwong's fumble, recovered by Coffey on the 26. Parker galloped for 21. Bright smashed for four. Parker passed to Coffey for 23 to the Calgary 36. Bright got nine in two smashes. Parker picked up six after being trapped, and Kwong got the rest in five carries.

DOUSED FLAME

It was 20-0 at the half and if the Stampede came out for the third quarter fired up, Cowboy Woodruff doused any flame at once by speeding 95 yards behind great blocking with the kickoff for a fourth touchdown. Coffey converted, it was 27-0 and Winnipeg Blue Bombers started concentrating only on the Eskimos.

The Stampede finally scored in the fourth quarter but not before some frustrating experiences. They missed a first down early in the third quarter by two inches, went for it, got it with yards to spare only to lose the ball when Lunsford fumbled. Later they moved from their own 14 crashed for more than 80 yards to within five yards in 13 plays, lost the ball there when Kapp took to the air and missed twice in a row.

Then, to cap a horrible evening, George Tait fumbled after making a first-down pass reception and lost a second touchdown when the Eskimos recovered on their three-yard line.

Parker was deservedly voted the game star. He carried seven times for 89 yards. He completed nine of 14 passes for 254 yards and had receivers drop two others which should have been caught. Bright crashed for more than 80 yards to within five yards in 13 plays, Kwong, playing only the first half, for about 60.

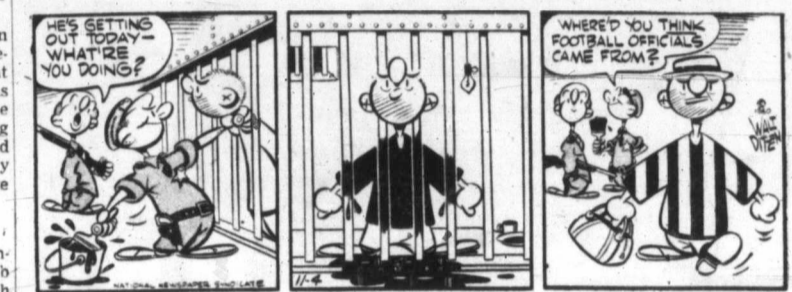

FIRST QUARTER
1. Edmonton, touchdown (Woodruff 35-yard pass from Parker) 6-0.
2. Edmonton, convert (Coffey).
3. Edmonton, touchdown (Bright, two-yard plunge) 9-0.
4. Edmonton, convert (Coffey).
SECOND QUARTER
1. Edmonton, touchdown (Kwong, six-yard plunge) 16-0.
2. Edmonton, convert (Coffey).
3. Edmonton, convert (Woodruff).
THIRD QUARTER
1. Edmonton, touchdown (Woodruff, 35-yard pass from Parker) 23-0.
2. Edmonton, convert (Woodruff).
3. Edmonton, convert (Woodruff).
4. Calgary, touchdown (Kwong, six-yard pass from Kapp).
5. Calgary, convert (Doug Brown).
In Edmonton, field goal (Coffey), 23-3.

Als Will Show Up Despite Refereeing

OTTAWA (CP)—Montreal Alouettes will turn up here for Saturday's Big Four football semi-final even though referee

Saturday's Big Four playoff will be seen on television channels 2 and 6 at 10 a.m.

Johnny Munro has been chosen to officiate, league president Sam Berger said Wednesday. He said that in a telephone call Montreal coach Perry Moss gave assurances that the Alouettes will be present for the sudden-death game against Ottawa Rough Riders.

Referee Munro was the target of an angry blast from Moss following Montreal's loss to Toronto Argonauts last Sunday. Moss told reporters his team wouldn't play in any game in which Munro officiated.

Mr. Berger said he called the Montreal coach and told him he would be expected to have his team here no matter who officiated.

He said Moss replied that he recognized the league had "the paramount authority" and that he would obey his instructions.

Moss was upset over a Munro ruling that an attempted Alouette convert was made.

CLAIR GROANS

A rash of injuries, weakening the ends of the Ottawa Rough Riders, is bringing groans from coach Frank Clair as the team heads into the semi-final.

"Imagine getting hit with so many injuries to ends all at one time," moaned the coach. "And there are no second chances after Saturday."

Clair, who had his own personal woes with a cold and headache, also was worried about the opposition—quarterback Sam Etcheberry in particular.

"He's responsible for part of the headache, no doubt about it," the coach said wryly.

PLAYER OUT

Defensive end Jon Jelacic is definitely out with a stiff knee. Ted Smale did some running Tuesday night and expressed hopes of returning to his end spot for the finals if the Riders get past Montreal.

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal Alouettes, buoyed up by a luncheon rally of the Quarterback Club, were glowingly confident Wednesday that they can beat Ottawa Rough Riders in the sudden-death final of the Big Four League playoff.

Both Sam Etcheberry and Billy Shipp of the Als told the club they feel the Als can whip the Riders and it shouldn't occasion any great surprise "if we go all the way."

Saturday's winner will go against Toronto Argos in a two-game, home-and-home, total-point series to determine the team that will meet the western league winner in the Grey Cup game in Vancouver Nov. 26.

TORONTO (CP)—Coach Punch Imlach of Toronto Maple Leafs has named National Hockey League veteran Johnny Wilson as a first-choice replacement for injured George Armstrong and Larry Regan against Boston

Pension Scheme Set For Canadian Pros

TORONTO (CP)—Canada's professional golfers will score a world first next year—a retirement pension scheme.

Dick Borthwick of Hamilton, president of the Canadian Professional Golfers' Association, announced plans for the scheme Wednesday night following conclusion of the CPGA's annual meeting.

"No other country has a retirement pension plan for its golfers," he said, "not even the United States."

Eric Gillespie, a member of the CPGA council who has been working on the scheme for the 15 months, said both the professional and his club will contribute to the fund. He said the pension will be transferable, allowing the pro to take his pension from one club to another.

Gillespie said the plan, which provides a retirement age of 65, will be in full force by April, 1961. He said one of the organizers of the plan, particularly in its early stages, was Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League and an honorary member of the Royal Canadian Golf Association.

We Got Stomped Says Stamp Coach

EDMONTON (CP)—Steve Owen planted his feet smack in the centre of the silent dressing room, huge and snuff-mouthed, and solemnly philosophized:

"They kicked hell out of us." The usually genial Calgary Stampede coach, not nearly so genial just after 11 p.m. Wednesday night, allowed as how his ambitious football team had run into a problem at Clarke Stadium.

"It's right out there on the scoreboard."

While the Calgary dressing room was morose, the other dressing room showed more a matter-of-fact attitude than jubilation toward it all.

Eskimos coach Eagle Keys, just about as solemn as Owen, offered the type of exciting prediction that sportswriters have come to expect of him: "It'll be a tough one in Calgary on Saturday."

"They moved the ball pretty well against us," said the man from Turkey Neck, Ky. "Interceptions were the big thing for us."

"But we missed two touchdowns."

Keys went so far as to agree that Jackie Parker played one of his best games of the season at the quarterback slot.

GREAT PLAYER

"Parker" repeated stout Steve Owen, shifting a wad of snuff. "He played his usual, what's all. The guy's a great player."

"We dropped too many balls, that's all. We hope to change things in Calgary."

The game did not go injury-free. Stampede tackle George

Hansen was carried off on a stretcher early in the third quarter and immediately moved to hospital with a leg injury, a bad bruise on the inside calf muscle. Halfback Ron Morris was shaken up soon after but his condition was not considered too serious.

In the Eskimos camp, full-back Normie Kwong did not show up at all in the second half. Keys felt "the China Clipper" might have pulled a rib muscle and "will likely miss a game." Tackle Toby Deese came up with an undetermined leg injury.

Spring salmon and coho anglers found the mid-Island and north-Island areas the most successful this past fishing season . . . and they found that, on the average, bait was most successful lure during any month.

King Fisherman contest records show only a three-fish difference between mid-Island and north-Island waters as both recorded an excellent fishing year. Some 3,037 spring and coho were weighed in from the waters from Miracle Beach north and some 3,034 from the Nanose Bay-French Creek-Qualicum Beach-Qualicum Bay-Deep Bay waters. The north-Island will take the lead when tye are counted.

The Royston-Comox-Little River-Bates Beach waters gave up good fishing with 1,119 springs and cohos.

Saanich Inlet waters provided good fishing every month of the contest, and with 2,684 springs and cohos weighed into the contest, was the most consistent producer, although undoubtedly also the most heavily fished area.

Cowichan Bay, with fishing only in July, August, September and October, recorded 1,270 cohos and springs and in August (405), September (473) and October (281) it was by far the most productive fishing ground on the Island.

The real slump in fishing, which sees King Fisherman entries down to a new low, came in the fishing off the Victoria to Sidney waterfront where only 873 springs and cohos were recorded, and in the Chemainus-Ladysmith-Nanaimo waters where only 65 fish were recorded.

Two months fishing in the Alberni Inlet gave up 346 salmon, only 23 of them coho.

Other areas such as Port Renfrew and the Gulf Island, Clo-oose, Tofino and Ucluelet produced another couple of hundred entries.

Total entries in the contest for 1960 was 8,576 coho, compared with a record 10,841 coho in 1959, but ahead of 8,255 coho in 1958 and 8,555 coho in 1957.

Spring salmon entries hit a four-year low of 5,051, compared with an all-time record of 10,167 in 1959, 6,430 in 1958 and 6,383 in 1957.

Best coho month was July when 2,954 coho were entered, 1,381 of these from the Campbell River area.

August was best spring salmon month with 1,414, with 265 from Cowichan Bay and 438 from Saanich Inlet. In May 282 springs were weighed in, in June 781, in July 1,345, September 1,183 and October 104.

Part of the big spring salmon drop this year may be blamed on the fact there was no humpback run this year and humpbacks last year, when there was an exceptional run off Victoria, were entered as spring salmon.

But Sooke to Victoria waters still proved a lucrative place to get Prince crests, with 52 crests, some in each category each month, weighed in from these waters.

The mid-Island is the place to go for the first coho to wards the end of May.

Some 2,754 spring and coho were caught on Strip-Teaser, 1,242 on Minnow-Teaser and 989 on herring. Herring was only productive in August, September and October when anglers were after the big ones.

Next popular lures were plugs, which caught 1,772 fish, with the Louie catching 929 of them, followed by Mac's Squid, Rex Field, Lyman, Martin, Swiftsure and Alaskan.

Spoons produced well, particularly on coho and produced 1,772 fish, with the ever-popular Tom Mack catching 1,381 of these.

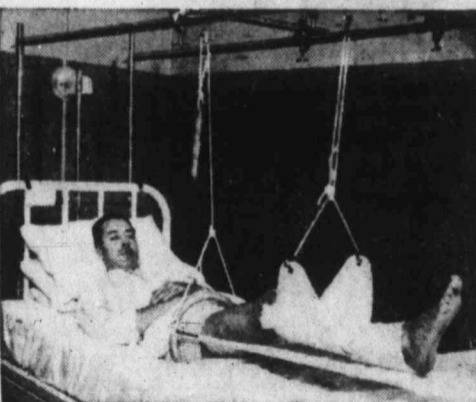

Bucktail fly was a consistent producer each month, with 1,727 to its credit for the contest, mostly coho.

Giants Big Flop In Japan Tour

TOKYO (AP) — The barnstorming San Francisco Giants have proved a resounding flop in Japan thus far as representatives of major league baseball.

The Giants, fifth-place finishers in this year's National League race, have been playing like minor leaguers, handicuffed by Japanese pitching, missing fly balls and running bases like novices.

In eight games on their 16-game exhibition tour the Giants have won only four, lost three and tied one. Against Japanese pitching, at best triple-A calibre, the vaunted powerhouse lineup has scored only 31 runs.

The Giants have committed 13 errors, including one by the great Willie Mays who let an easy fly drop out of his glove. Except for the leniency of Japanese scorers, the error count would be much higher.

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP) — Chico Kozurok, 18-year-old assistant trainer with Sudbury Wolves, is probably the lowest paid player in hockey. He gets 20 cents a game to sit on the end of the bench.

Wolves need Kozurok to help fulfill the Eastern Professional Hockey League's complicated rookie rule. The rule requires a team to carry two rookies and three players with one year of pro hockey experience or less. The Wolves have the three one-year players but only one rookie—Jim Pappin who played last season for Toronto Marlboros of the Ontario Hockey Association junior series.

To get his second rookie, coach Murph Chamberlain signed Kozurok to a five-game tryout and gave him $1 for signing. Each time the Wolves

Colonist Cup Soccer

Mount View Wins Fifth Straight

Mount View High School, unscored upon this season and unbeaten, won its fifth straight game in the Victoria district high school Colonist Cup soccer competition Wednesday.

Mount View defeated previously unbeaten Oak Bay, the defending champions, 3-0 at Carnarvon Park.

Victoria High School moved into a tie for second with Oak Bay with a 7-1 victory over Mount Douglas. Victoria and Oak Bay both have 4-1 records and meet Nov. 16 in the last game of their schedules.

In effect, that Nov. 16 game could amount to a league semi-final, provided of course Mount View, Oak Bay and Victoria win their games next Wednesday against weaker opposition.

In other Colonist Cup games, Esquimalt defeated Milne's Landing, 4-1, and Belmont defeated Royal Oak, 3-1. Goalkeeper Larry Johnson, who hasn't allowed a goal all season, had his hands full in the Mount View nets keeping off the eager Oak Bay forwards.

Mount View didn't get the ball into Oak Bay's half of the field more than four times during the entire last half. But they didn't have to, as they had a 2-0 lead on goals by Al Boden and Ken Piercy. Both were scored on semi-break-aways about four minutes apart.

Final goals came a few minutes from full time as Bruce Pollard beat the Oak Bay goalie Murray on a rebound that he couldn't see.

Cage Clinic For Referees

J. "Wink" Wilcox, education chairman of the British Columbia Basketball Referees Association will conduct the clinic at Victoria High School gym Saturday at 2 p.m. and HMCS Naden gym Sunday at 2 p.m.

Rangit Dhillon led Victoria High with three goals. Fred Potts and Jim Waldal got two each. Fitzgerald counted the lone Mount Douglas goal in the first half, that ended 4-1. Danny Bule and Jim Ackin-close divided Esquimalt scoring with two goals each. Wayne Stoltz scored for Milne's Landing.

Warren Chapman scored all three for Belmont. Ball counted for Royal Oak.

"Save-Your-Hair Day" Set For Today and Tomorrow

Scalp Specialists Here
To Demonstrate New Home Treatment

Now is the time to carry out that long-delayed resolution to "do something about your hair."

For today and tomorrow, Thursday and Friday, November 3 and 4, is "Save-Your-Hair Day" in Victoria. The event is sponsored by Harrison Hair and Scalp Specialists, largest organization of its kind in the Dominion. Trichologist M. D. Harrison is in charge, he is here to personally examine hair-worried men and women from 2 p.m. to 9 p.m. today and tomorrow at the Hotel Sussex.

The Harrison program for preventing baldness by home treatment is explained by director M. D. Harrison this way:

"Almost two million Canadian men are already bald or soon will be. How many women are bald, no one can estimate. Certainly all of these men and women regret their condition."

Can Prevent Baldness

"The shocking truth is that most of these bald people need not have lost their hair. Although baldness can not be cured, it can most certainly be prevented. Our Harrison trichologists have developed methods of self-administered home treatment that are successful 95% of the time."

This dynamic young hair expert, whose main office is in Vancouver, has personally worked on the hair problems of thousands of men and women for 17 years. But he still can't understand why almost everybody postpones getting specialized help for their hair.

Don't Put It Off

"Your hair is in better condition today than it will be next month or even next week. That's why we urge you to see the Harrison trichologist before further damage is done. Find out today or tomorrow about our new home treatment methods for saving your hair."

"Then you won't wake up a few years from now to find yourself bald—and painfully aware that you need not have been."

M. D. Harrison, sponsor of "Save-Your-Hair Day," has worked with thousands of hair-worried men and women during 17 years.

Here's how to get your free scalp examination on "Save-Your-Hair Day":

Call at the Hotel Sussex today or tomorrow and ask for the suite number of trichologist M. D. Harrison of Harrison Hair and Scalp Specialists. Any time between 2 and 9 p.m. He does not make appointments so come in at your convenience.

Get the Facts

If your condition is hopeless, he'll tell you so frankly. He does not accept cases involving systemic or organic disease. Such cases should be treated by a physician.

Otherwise, he'll tell you what's wrong with your hair and scalp, what you can and should do about it, how little of your time and money will be required to put your scalp in condition to grow healthy hair again.

Free Examination

Harrison emphasized that his treatment is neither "mail-order" nor "cure-all." Different scalp conditions require different procedures. "For that reason," he said, "we do not ever recommend a treatment without first making a personal scalp examination."

"For the same reason, we have one of our experts re-check your hair and scalp condition at regular intervals."

What Causes Baldness?

How many times have you heard men attempt to explain their loss of hair with one of these remarks:

"Oh, baldness runs in my family, so I just have to accept it" . . . or "Well, it's natural for a man to lose his hair as he gets along in years" . . . or "If you're going to be bald, you're going to be bald, and there's nothing you can do about it" . . .

So many men have said such things for so many hundreds of years, these old ideas are still widely believed. But they are not supported by modern knowledge.

True, some few men do inherit a scalp structure that may predispose to early baldness. But any such tendency can be overcome by proper hair care.

As for the excuse of age, it is established now that men's hair naturally grows fastest in the years from 35 to 65. And certainly much can be done to stop hair loss, as the careful records kept by Harrison Hair and Scalp Specialists prove.

"Actually, the two most common causes of baldness," says hair expert M. D. Harrison, "are neglect and mistreatment of the hair."

Don't Resign Yourself

"Most men just don't take care of their hair. Consequently, they don't get very far along in life without hair trouble. They become 'balding' . . . then just plain bald. And usually do nothing about it except perhaps experiment with some hair 'tonics' and 'cure-alls'."

This famous authority urges that you do not resign yourself to baldness unless you are already bald.

Get expert help for your hair—Harrison Hair and Scalp Specialists help. Go in and talk with the Harrison expert today or tomorrow during "Save-Your-Hair Day."

ada never has won the classic Queen's Plate, but "with a little luck it can be done," says Lou Davies of Edmonton, who has been in the racing game nearly 40 of his 60 years.

In Toronto the other day to receive a plaque from the Jockeys' Benefit Association to mark his selection by the jockeys as "racing's man of the year." Davies said in an interview that "the man most likely to turn the trick is Max Bell of Calgary."

"Max has established a new stable at Okotoks in Alberta and he could do it, but it takes time," said the general manager of the Western Canada Racing Association.

"There are other breeders on the Prairies trying to get the calibre of horse that could win the Plate, but it's a matter of luck and money. Purses in Ontario are higher than those in the West and with this incentive owners can go into the breeding business on a more extensive scale. In this game, money talks.

NEW GAME
"Raising and breeding in Ontario is a couple of centuries old, whereas it is a fairly new game in the West."

Another obstacle facing western breeders in their search for the Queen's guinea is the cold climate. "Our owners and breeders have a heck of a time getting horses ready for the season opening in Calgary in May. That doesn't give them much time to condition their horses for the Plate running in Toronto in mid-June."

OPENED IN 1944
The century-old classic was limited only to Ontario-owned and Ontario-bred three-year-olds until 1944 when it was opened up for horses bred anywhere in the country. It is a $50,000-added stakes at 1 1/4 miles.

The West has sent many challengers East but the best it could do was take two seconds.

Lord Fairmont, owned and bred by the late R. James (Jim) Speers of Winnipeg, won place money behind Last Mark, owned by the late Jim Fair of Cainsville, Ont., in 1948.

Two years later another Speers-bred horse, Sir Strome, was second to McGill, owned by Vince Sheridan of Toronto. Since then, no western horse has finished in the money.

Davies had one parting shot on the subject of night racing. "I'm against it. The things that really make this sport are well-groomed women, bright sunshine and fast horses. I don't want that night stuff."

Sunday Shoot Set Ahead

Victoria Gun Club's ham and bacon shoot, originally scheduled for the Albert Head Road layout Nov. 13, has been set ahead to Sunday, Nov. 6.

It was felt that too many members would be out of the city on hunting trips on the long weekend to make that date practical.

Forest Fire Repairs Lag

Young Girl Loses Fortune

LONDON (AP) — An 18-year-old German girl who came to England 12 weeks ago had $45,856 ($128,366) slip from her fingers. Diepold Ute, who works as a maid, thought she had won the money betting in a soccer pool. An official of the pools firm called on her to hand her the cheque.

But when he found she was under 21 he told her she couldn't have the money. Under British law, no one under 21 is allowed to bet on the pools.

"What can I do?" asked Miss

Ute Wednesday in tears. "In Germany my parents would have been given the money in trust for me. It was the first time I had ever filled in a coupon, and it came out right. And now this."

A pools official said that Miss Ute's prize money was added to the funds earmarked for other first-prize winners. A

"We gave Miss Ute her two shillings six pence back," the official added.

Garden Notes

Cheap and Quick

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

As new housing developments keep pushing farther and farther out of town, I get a lot of requests in my mail for advice on what to plant for hedges and windbreaks. Most of these new homeowners are badly strapped for cash after putting up the down payment on the house and buying new furniture, so their specifications for a hedge plant are always the same: It must be cheap to buy. It must grow fast. It must be able to get along without a lot of laborious trimming.

Unfortunately, these qualities are contradictory. It is true that the fast growers are cheap to buy, for the nurseryman can propagate them in quantity at little expense, but the more quickly a hedge plant establishes itself and puts on growth, the more frequently it will need trimming.

It cannot be expected to stop growing when it reaches the desired height and to plant such a hedge is simply cutting a stick for your own back, for it isn't any fun to clip and trim a long hedge two or three times a year.

The type of hedge will depend on the size and nature of your lot. If you have a corner lot, the authorities may have harsh words for you if you grow a tall screen which obscures traffic in the intersection. Assert your individuality, by all means, but with due regard to the amenities of the district and the effect your hedge will have on your neighbor's garden.

There is a lot to be said for privet, even though it has become the custom to look upon the plant as "common." Kept reasonably low and neatly clipped, privet can look trim and attractive and has the unusual merit of thriving under the most appalling conditions.

It is cheap enough, running around 25 cents a plant for English privet, although I think it pays to put out just a little extra money and buy the evergreen Ilex variety. If you want to go for broke and have a really distinctive hedge, plant golden privet at about 75 cents a plant.

The green or the golden box and Euonymus all make closely knit evergreen hedges, while Escallonia is ideal for sites close to the sea and exposed to salt sea wind. Where the situation allows, my own preference is for a natural, untrimmed screen rather than a formal hedge, and for this kind, there are few plants that look better and are more effective in keeping out small children and dogs than Berberis Thunbergii and Berberis Frattii. These are two of the erect-growing prickly barrierberries.

Willow and Elder make excellent and very quick-growing windbreaks and are the cheapest of the lot, for slips of these plants will root at the drop of the hat and you can grow dozens of them simply by pushing sticks in the ground. Don't try to root them on the hedge site, though, make up a little propagating bed in the backyard and be your own nurseryman.

The big disadvantage of Willow and Elder—and it is a big one—is the way they get out of hand if you so much as turn your back on them. You must be ruthless with these subjects, cutting them down to their stocking tops every spring and relying on the new young growth, which comes along just as surely as slugs after lettuce.

But Once We Are in Power...

Sorel's Nazi Chief Says 2,000 'Ready'

SOREL (TNS) — Under fascist rule, says the self-styled leader of the Canadian Nazis, Jews and Negroes will be relegated to the role of second-class Canadians.

Andrew Bellefeuille, 30, says his plans for the new Canada have no place for Jews and Negroes.

"Jews," he says, "will not be allowed to hold positions in government. They have proved untrustworthy and are the cause of the world's ills.

"Negroes have no place with white people."

Bellefeuille, who sleeps in his semi-isolated home on the fringes of a woods here and with the round-the-clock protection of an SS-style bodyguard, claims a party membership of 1,500 to 2,000 in five provinces, ready to move "when the time is ready."

But he denies that his party is one of violence. "It is written in our pledge," he says, "that violence is not to be tolerated."

"Any of our members who use violence—against Jews or others—will be judged by our own courts and punished if guilty."

Even behind the smoked glasses which he wears all the time, Bellefeuille's eyes glare with the light of fanaticism.

When he speaks of Jews his eyes blaze.

The walls of his room are plastered with the propaganda of anti-Jewish hate-mongers and in a prominent position is a picture of American Fascist leader George Lincoln Rockwell.

Bellefeuille admits a "writing friendship" with Rockwell but denies he is under U.S. orders or takes commands from anyone.

"What would you do if Rockwell had designs on Canada?" he was asked.

"I'd fight him," he said.

The Nazi leader—he prefers leader to fuhrer—claims his party meets in secret conclave in Montreal once a month. But in Montreal, as here in Sorel, no one in authority takes him seriously.

In fact the majority of the people who know him well write off his ambitions as ramblings and delusions of grandeur.

Bellefeuille explained the lack of his special troopers during the interview as not necessary for the occasion. But he has ambitious plans for them.

They will wear black jack-boots, black breeches, a tan shirt and a black necktie.

"They will not take military training," he says, "because that is forbidden by law."

But once we are in power... Primarily, Bellefeuille's violence—and he claims it is an ideological violence—is directed at the Jews. But it is a hate without personal foundation, he claims.

Bellefeuille barks orders to his pregnant wife with the authority of a Junker. But he springs to his feet to retrieve a dropped article with the speed of a batman.

Napoleon Next Role For Sellers

By SHEILAH GRAHAM

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — British actor Peter Sellers, who looks more like Alec Guinness than Napoleon, plans to play the Little Corporal in "Madame Sans Gene," with Sophia Loren. They have a big hit, these two, in their recent co-starrer, "The Millionaire."

Shari Lewis had to say no, when Donald O'Connor offered her co-billing to appear with him at the Sahara, in Las Vegas, next month. Shari is too busy with her NBC-TV show.

Yul Brynner is due in New York in a week or so. His book on the children refugee problem in Europe will be published soon, and in December Yul stars on TV in a spectacular dealing with the same sad facts. All money received goes to the children.

Producer Sam Spiegel must wish he'd never heard of Lawrence of Arabia. After surrounding 24-year-old, almost-unknown Albert Finney with top stars of the calibre of Cary Grant and Sir Laurence Olivier, Finney says he won't sign for the role of Lawrence if Spiegel insists on making it a multiple deal. "One picture only," firmly says Albert, who is sometimes known in Britain as the poor man's Olivier. Meanwhile Sam's very-expensive epic is finally supposed to start in January in Jordan. He will have to yield to Mr. Finney.

Tammy Grimes is hoping Rex Harrison can arrive here from London this week in time for her New York premiere in "The Unsinkable Molly Brown." In spite of their "no marriage" comment, 'twouldn't surprise me if they take the leap.

If you care to know how France Nuyen lost 15 pounds, read on: Breakfast—orange juice with one raw egg beaten into it. Lunch—lean meat broiled, plus one pat of butter. Dinner—grilled meat or fish, lots of spinach and sliced oranges or sliced grapefruit. No drinking with meals! France now hits the scales at 112 pounds—she has three more to lose.

Another Lollibrigida story from Rome: When Gina met Bobby Darin for the first time on the set of their movie, she said, "I know you, you're the one who sings 'Jack, the Knife.'" Bobby grinned.

Because of the sympathy of John Merivale, who was her leading man in "Duel of the Angels," Vivien Leigh is finding less painful her upcoming divorce from Sir Laurence Olivier. John was on the boat that took Vivien to France.

James Mason explains why so many movies are made away from Hollywood, especially in Europe—it's cheaper there: labor, building of sets, etc. But I'm not as sure. Most Hollywood films made in Europe are held up because of bad weather. In Hollywood you are always sure of sun. That's why pictures were made there in the first place. Mason's "Lolita" will be filmed in England, but will location in America.

If Fredric March and Spencer Tracy are overlooked at Oscar-voting time then justice will be wearing very dark glasses. It was wonderful to see and hear them in the movie version of "Inherit the Wind," which I thought was superior to the stage play.

LET'S TALK

By Rudolf Flesch

Fall is here, and I've been looking at the new car ads. After I'd looked at a dozen or two of them, the bug bit me and I succumbed. Next day I went to see my friendly dealer.

He was just as friendly as he'd been three years ago when he sold me the car I have. Proudly he showed me all the new models, pointing out horsepower, roominess for any size of knees, elbows—and tummies, enormous trunk space, headroom to spare for a family of giants, extra-light engines, vast economy in gas—and so forth and so on. He left no doubt that the new cars were just as superior to all previously made automobiles as the '60 models had been, and the '59 models, and the '58 models, and the '57 models.

Just as Casual

Somewhere during the flow of talk, he asked me casually whether I'd want my car appraised. I answered—equally casually—that we might as well—and handed him the key. Then we sat down and looked at catalogues and color charts and chatted about prices.

When the appraisal was brought in, the conversation grew a little more somber. Not that my friendly dealer got less friendly. But he couldn't help pointing out that my car had this, that—and the other thing wrong with it. There was quite a list of flaws on the sheet—and way down at the bottom was a figure that was amazingly low. The trade-in value of my car was just about half of what I'd thought it was.

By way of comfort, my friendly dealer said this figure was really more in the nature of a discount than an appraisal value; they would lose money on the deal—but were cheerfully willing to do so just because I was an old customer.

Then he smilingly pointed out how snugly my six children would fit into one of his new compact station wagons, which I could acquire by simply signing up for 36 gigantic monthly payments.

Quiet Refrain

I refrained from asking him what would be the monthly payments for a station wagon in the regular size.

Quietly I collected my little bundle of catalogues and color charts, got into my poor, abused old car and drove home.

When I recovered from the shock an hour or two later, I reminded myself of what a wonderful car it was and how I would hate to lose it. I'd bought it at a tremendous bargain at the tail end of the 1957 season. It's a gorgeously roomy station wagon in the medium-price range, in gleaming blue and white, with automatic shift and power steering and an air of genuine luxury. In short, it's a great beauty—the handsomest, most luxurious car I've ever owned.

Why should I give up my lovely car just for the sake of driving around in a '61 model?

I felt like going out to the car and asking its forgiveness for my near-infidelity.

Scroll for Youngest Hero

Canada's youngest hero, two-year-old Carl Allester of Chemainus, left, doesn't quite know what it's all about but obligingly displays Rotary Club scroll bearing gold farthing which was presented to him for alerting searchers to plight of four-year-old Keith Hess, right, who had fallen down a well and was unconscious after being in the water 15 minutes. — (Colonist photo by Charles Thompson.)

Farthing Catches Eye

Life-Saver Bewildered By the Fuss

CHEMAINUS — Chief concern of a two-year-old boy who two weeks ago saved his four-year-old pal from drowning is how to get at a gold farthing framed and mounted for him by Chemainus Rotarians.

The farthing, which little Carl Allester calls a "penny," is mounted as part of a scroll which was presented to him for his forthright action in leading searchers to the unconscious form of Keith Hess who had fallen into an abandoned well.

The scroll was presented to the slightly bewildered youngster at a dinner meeting which he attended with his father. Said his father following the presentation, "He didn't seem to think much of the award but he had a good time at the dinner."

"The only interest Carl has in the award is in trying to get at the 'penny,'" said Mr. Allester.

Fourth Steel Barge Launched by VMD

Fourth steel barge built at Victoria Machinery Depot under a $390,000 contract for Island Tug and Barge Ltd. was launched yesterday.

The barges, each 100 feet long with a 44-foot beam and a carrying capacity of more than 140,000 cubic feet, will be used mostly to haul wood chips between Port Townsend, Duncan Bay and Vancouver. After finishing touches have been made on the latest barge at VMD, it will be moved early next week to Point Hope shipyard on the Inner Harbor, where Island Tug will do some last-minute adjustments.

The barges sport ITB's new fire-engine red and white color scheme. A company spokesman said yesterday a gradual changeover from the present green and white colors will be carried out on all Island Tug scows.

Slab to Mark Start Of 'High-Rise' Block

Victoria's first "high-rise" apartment block has begun rising on Douglas across from Beacon Hill Park.

First-floor slab of the $600,000 concrete building is scheduled to be poured Friday. When complete, the block being built by Westcott Construction Ltd. will have eight storeys and 60 suites.

Three areas in James Bay were recently rezoned to allow this type of development, with a height limit of 12 storeys. So far, only one permit has been issued, but city planning and inspection chief Roderick Clack said yesterday he has had "five or six serious discussions" in connection with possible other applications.

Cadet Post for Hoard

Robert T. Hoard was elected vice-chairman of the B.C. Air Cadet League for Vancouver Island at the recent annual meeting of the Air Cadet League of Canada at Sea Island, Vancouver. Succeeding George Brebner of Victoria, Mr. Hoard for the past nine years has been chairman of 89 Squadron (Kinsmen) Air Cadet Committee. Mr. Hoard, as vice-chairman, will be responsible for Air Cadet Squadrons at Courtenay, Port Alberni, Nanaimo, Ladysmith, Sidney and Victoria.

CPR Fleet

Heroic Skipper Is Dead

One of the most popular captains in the CPR's cruise fleet, Graham O. Hughes, 60, died yesterday in Royal Jubilee Hospital.

He was born in Victoria in 1899 and started with the CPR in 1915 as a messenger boy. His first coastal service was as a seaman in the Princess Maquinna.

In subsequent years, he served in most of the steamers in the CPR fleet.

His first voyage as master was in 1943 in the Princess Charlotte.

Capt. Hughes was commended for looking after the safety of 300 passengers and crew and his efforts to save the Ss. Princess Kathleen which went down off Point Lena, Alaska, in September, 1952, after striking reefs while another officer was on duty.

Capt. Hughes had been in hospital since last August.

He is survived by his wife, Rhoda, at the family home, 2954 Cedar Hill, and one son, Nelson, in Edmonton.

Rent Boost Denied By Navy

Widespread rumors that rents are to go up in the Belmont naval housing area in the wake of last Monday's armed forces pay increase were branded false by naval officials last night.

The reports indicated rents would increase $14 per month. However, an RCN spokesman said personnel living in housing areas like Belmont pay no rent and receive free electricity, heat and water.

Married naval personnel not able to live at Belmont are given a monthly subsistence allowance which goes toward rent or payments on homes.

Personnel in free married quarters will not be given an increase granted to those living elsewhere on subsistence allowances, the spokesman said.

Civil Suit Filed In Theatre Case

VANCOUVER (CP)—A civil suit was filed against John Panrucker, former manager of the $6,000,000 Queen Elizabeth theatre, less than an hour after he appeared in police court Wednesday.

The suit asks unstated damages for breach of booking agreements at the theatre.

Panrucker, 48, was arrested Tuesday and charged in court with 18 counts of dealing in forged payroll cheques involving more than $2,000 and five counts of theft-involving about $12,000.

Panrucker was released less than six hours after he was arrested when John Emerson, city musician and actor, posted the $10,000 bail set by Magistrate Oscar Orr.

Panrucker was remanded one week. Hugh McGivern, defence counsel, told the court he was not prepared to proceed with the case and asked for the adjournment.

Panrucker was suspended from his $657 a month job Sept. 26.

Siamese Twins Bodies in Bank Vault

WATSONVILLE, Calif. (AP)—The embalmed bodies of red-haired Siamese twin babies were found in a suitcase in the vault of the Pajaro Valley Bank here.

Authorities said Wednesday the bodies may have been in the safekeeping vault of the bank since 1908. Included in the suitcase were certificates signed and dated 1908 by a doctor and an Arizona embalmer, and two X-ray negatives.

Bank officials found the bodies the day before Halloween while making a routine inventory of items in the vault as required under a new state law. Packages and articles are stored together in the safekeeping vault as opposed to safety deposit boxes which the bank does not have free access to.

Wednesday night, the bodies were still in their suitcase and back in the vault while the bank awaited instructions from California state controller Alan Cranston, whose office requires the inventory.

Records were being searched to clear up ownership of the suitcase.

A tag affixed to its handle bore the name which was not that of the mother named on a doctor's certificate, Mrs. Maria Holguin Herrera.

Authorities said the twins apparently died at birth or shortly thereafter. They said the bodies were joined at the chest and were fairly well preserved.

OAK BAY

Show Business

By Dick Williams

Pianist Roger Williams, during one of his cross-country tours, stopped for the night at a small hotel in a midwestern town. In the lobby of the somewhat ancient hotel was an old, battered piano.

Roger asked the desk clerk if he might try it. He found that the instrument was not only badly out of tune but also a number of the keys stuck and would make no sound at all.

Williams remarked about it to the clerk. The latter, offended by this criticism, replied: "If you're such a good pianist, you could skip over those keys so it wouldn't matter!"

PAUL STROMKINS

"... Do it Again for That"

Rowed for Rescuers

Chilly Plunge
Taken in Stride
By 70-Year-Old

Seventy-year-old Paul Stromkins, 852 Selkirk, just couldn't understand what the fuss was all about.

"He was simply gathering firewood in his skiff when it tipped over and threw him into the icy waters of the Gorge.

While he calmly prepared to remove his clothes so he could swim to shore people started to try to rescue him.

Said the doughty septuagenarian last night, "I was going to take my clothes off and swim in when I saw the neighbors coming out from shore—when you can swim good you don't get over-excited."

When the rescuers reached the scene in another boat Mr. Stromkins insisted on rowing it back to shore himself.

Then he spurned a Saanich police offer of a lift to hospital where he could get a checkup.

When he spied his wife coming towards him down the shore carrying a glass of brandy he quipped, "I'll jump in again for that."

After knocking back the brandy he thanked his rescuers, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Longstaff, 1019 Arcadia, and allowed as how he'd go home and have a hot shower.

Over Arena Walkout

Council Snoopers
Irritate Mulliner

The Memorial Arena commission doesn't feel required to report to city council on internal matters at the arena, chairman Frank G. Mulliner said last night—such as the resignation of six employees in a disagreement with manager Joe Dukowski.

Informed that Ald. Hugh Ramsay plans to ask today for a full report on the resignations, Mr. Mulliner said the five-man commission is fully responsible for running the arena and "not responsible to city council."

Council appoints the commissioners, however, and could, he said, "get rid of us if it wanted to."

Ald. Ramsay, council's arena committee chairman, said yesterday he is "disturbed about the publicity on the resignations and any time that six people quit in a short period of time, I think there should be a full explanation for the reasons."

Mr. Mulliner indicated the commission is concerned only with the resignations of office manager Kenneth Noakes and two other "permanent staff" members; the others, he said, were part-time employees.

"The part-time employees, he had said earlier, "come and go frequently." But a check yesterday showed the six employees concerned had a total of 34 years' full or part-time service: Mr. Noakes 11 years, Mrs. Patricia Read eight, Mrs. Dorothy Bule six, Patricia Crust five, Mrs. Mary Jones more than one, and Robert Harris three.)

The commission, Mr. Mulliner indicated, has been satisfied with Mr. Dukowski's management of the arena.

"We look to him for results," he said, "and he did a good job last year."

Firecracker
Hurler
On Probation

A juvenile, who admitted throwing a firecracker that started a fire causing about $1,000 damage to a storeroom garage in Sidney earlier this week, last night was placed on six months' probation in juvenile court.

A firecracker tossed onto a sawdust pile started a smoldering fire which later destroyed the garage owned by G. E. Hochstetter, 10559 Patricia Bay Highway.

Black Refuses Comment
On McKay Resignation

Welfare Minister Wesley D. Black refused comment yesterday on the resignation of Miss Ruby McKay, superintendent of child welfare.

Miss McKay resigned in a difference over government policies and will leave her post at the end of the year. She said it was up to Mr. Black to give the reasons.

"No, no," said Mr. Black yesterday. "It's up to Miss McKay to speak."

"That's interesting," said Miss McKay when told of her minister's statement. "Well, I have no comment at this time."

Go-Kart
Park
Backed

Approval of establishment of a "go-kart" track, trampoline court and drive-in restaurant on the industrial reserve just east of Victoria West Park was recommended to city council yesterday by parks committee.

The provincial lands department asked for the city's views before transferring a lease to Spooky Singh, who plans the development.

"I can't see any harm in it," said Ald. M. H. Mooney, and Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson agreed with him.

The committee also recommended:

• Approval of a B.C. Yacht Brokers' plan for a 60-foot fill in the Inner Harbor near Johnson Street bridge to serve as a berth for the hydrofoil vessel Flying Fish.

• Rejection of a request from the Victoria Minor Canadian Football Association for the waiving of Royal Athletic Park fees for a game between Victoria All-Stars and Winnipeg Rams. Waiving the fees would set a precedent, the committee decided.

Japanese oranges, always the first sign of Christmas, will be on sale in local stores shortly after Nov. 23.

First shipment of 300,000 bundles from Japan is scheduled to arrive at Vancouver Nov. 23 aboard the new Norwegian freighter Martha Bakke of the Knutsen Line.

Pacific Tow

Another First

The Victoria deepsea tug Sudbury II was scheduled to tow from Yokohama today with two tanker mid-sections at the end of her towline to chalk up another pair of trans-Pacific towing "firsts" for Island Tug and Barge Ltd.

It will be the first time two tanker mid-sections, each 375 feet long, have been towed from Japan to California, and also the first occasion on which ITB tugs have made a tow both to and from Japan on the same voyage.

A sister tug, Cambrian Salvor, was reported yesterday making good headway with its tow of two former Liberty ships headed for the Japanese shipbreakers yard.

Columbia Co-ordinator

New Post and Son
For Hydro Official

Yesterday was a big day in the life of B.C. Power Commission executive Garth Griffiths—he was appointed co-ordinator of the Columbia River development, and his wife, June, returned home from hospital with their 7-day-old son, Evan.

"I don't know which job appeals to me most... changing diapers or working on the Columbia," he said last night.

His appointment to the Columbia post was announced yesterday by Dr. Hugh Keenleyside, chairman of the power commission. The position has been created on a temporary basis.

Duties of the co-ordinator will include compiling and maintaining records of project schedules, keeping in touch with firms engaged on the huge project and preparing reports on progress.

Mr. Griffiths, 47, was manager of consumer services. He joined the power commission in April, 1946, a year after the commission was formed.

He is a past chairman of the Vancouver Island branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada, a member of the council of the B.C. Association of Professional Engineers and a past chairman of the Victoria branch of the Public Administration Institute of Canada.

The vacancy caused by Mr. Griffiths' appointment will be filled by Norman Olsen, 36, director of power districts.

Drive Extended

'Soft-Sell' Blamed
For Lag in Chest

Blaming "lazy" canvassers and a "soft sell" approach to an apathetic public, Community Chest campaign chairman Bernard Van Aggelen said yesterday the 1960 drive will fail by about $63,000.

City, Byelection

Labor Enters
Vote Battles

Organized labor in Greater Victoria last night voted to assist "by every means possible" election of a New Party candidate in the upcoming Esquimalt-Saanich federal byelection as well as a labor candidate in the December civic elections in Victoria.

For the job, delegates at last night's Victoria Labor Council meeting appointed a political action committee and named IWA delegate Jack MacKenzie chairman.

AID REQUESTED

Action followed reading of a letter from Geoff Mitchell, chairman of the Esquimalt-Saanich CCF federal constituency association, requesting assistance from the council in the byelection battle.

Later, Mr. Mitchell said final decision on whether the Esquimalt-Saanich candidate will campaign under CCF or New Party colors will be taken at a nominating convention sometime before Dec. 15.

TOONE ENDORSED

Delegates endorsed VLC secretary-treasurer A. W. Toone as labor candidate in the civic contest. He was an unsuccessful candidate two years ago.

Mr. MacKenzie said the council's political education committee has found no one interested in running for election on a labor ticket in council contests in Esquimalt, Saanich or Oak Bay.

In the federal field, he said, success of the New Party candidate in the Peterborough,

Urgent Call
For Taggers

More volunteers are still urgently needed to sell Remembrance Day poppies starting Friday night.

Officers of help will be received by Mrs. H. F. Jarvis at EV 3-7863.

After hearing the campaign chief at a meeting held in a "backs-to-the-wall" atmosphere, Chest directors extended the drive an extra two weeks beyond the original closing date Friday.

DONATIONS IN STORES

Arrangements will be made soon with stores downtown to accept donations from shoppers.

Mr. Van Aggelen said it is expected all divisions of the campaign will fall below respective targets, with the residential canvass as much as $20,000 below its goal.

LESS THAN GAIN

Estimated return from the residential canvass is $45,500, compared to $66,300 donated last year. The target this year was only $65,000—less than the amount gained last year.

"I think the tone of the campaign this year—a 'soft sell' manner—has worked adversely," campaign chairman Bernard Van Aggelen angrily told officials. "We have opened up an avenue for people to open the door and smile and say: 'No thanks.'"

HARD-SELL

A "hard-sell" campaign was instituted in 1958 by Justin Harbord, then campaign chairman. Target for the appeal was $300,000. A total of $266,990 was raised.

"We are no different canvassing than a salesman selling his wares. I believe we have a good product and we have to sell it."

NO CALL-BACKS

"A lot of canvassers have not been making their call-backs, and it is time the area chairman got on their backs," Mr. Van Aggelen continued.

"These people have accepted a task to do and they should do it well. We have to get tough with these people. They said 'Yes,' so let them fulfill their obligations."

FAIR SHARE

If members of the public who can afford to donate to the Chest had donated on a fair-share basis the campaign target would be met, Mr. Van Aggelen said.

"I think we are now accepting an excuse 'My husband gave at work,' which is a pretty good crutch for people with a canvasser staring them in the face. The figures do not bear them out."

HURT DRIVE

Campaigns by other bodies, particularly the Royal Jubilee Hospital building appeal, have also hurt the Chest drive, he added.

"Eighty-five per cent of the people say they want a united appeal. If 85 per cent of the people supported the Chest we would not have a deficit."

SMALL RETURN: Hotelman John Olson has figures to refute the generally-held opinion that there's easy money in the restaurant business.

Latest statistics, he says, show the net profit for North American restaurants is a mere 3.8 cents on the dollar even though some specialty houses can make up to 15 to 20 per cent profit.

And 50 per cent of all new restaurants fail.

SUFFERIN' CATS: "Pussy Cat" (it never has had any other name) now knows what it must be like riding a rocket out into space.

The cat was inadvertently tossed into an automatic clothes dryer by Mrs. Carole Rayfuse, 512 Selkirk. She turned on the machine and talked for 15 minutes on the telephone.

It was only then that she noticed a queer thumping in the machine and thought it must have been some tools her husband had left in a shirt.

Mrs. Rayfuse opened the door and the cat staggered out. "Pussy Cat" hid under a bed for two days but soon recovered and is now living out its other eight lives.

SOUND BARRIER: An irate taxpayer who lives near Beacon Hill Park called city police the other day to complain that model airplane pilots were making so much noise he couldn't have his regular afternoon nap.

The investigating constable asked headquarters what he should do and was told to send the plane pilots home.

But by this time the complainant was so incensed that he insisted charges be laid on the grounds the models didn't have mufflers.

Police had quite a time convincing him there was no such charge under the criminal code of Canada.

MARCH OF TIME: Years ago, in 1909 to be exact, the government was having trouble with squatters on Crown property covering the foreshore at Cowichan Bay.

Cabinet of the then premier

Sir Richard McBride put a reserve on the land in order to get rid of the squatters. Yesterday, 51 years later, cabinet of Premier W. A. C. Bennett got around to removing the reserve.

FIRST CHOICE: About three months ago Mrs. Mildred Vining was watching Art Linkletter's "People Are Funny" television show and heard a member of the audience ask Art what he felt was the most beautiful sight in the world.

Just at this point there was a lot of interference on Mrs. Vining's set but her curiosity was aroused when she did hear the words "Vancouver Island."

So she wrote the entertainer to see what he did say.

His reply: "I mentioned the inland waterway (Georgia Strait and the Gulf Islands) as the most beautiful and breathtaking sight in the world."

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Readers: I am not prepared to haul out the wet noodle just yet, but I've had so much intelligent opposition to some recent advice, I feel obliged to print the dissenting point of view.

The original letter was from an employee who saw a foreman stealing crates of merchandise from the factory in which he worked. The employee's wife told him to mind his own business and keep his mouth shut. He said he felt disloyal to his boss—knowing what was going on, and not having the courage to report it.

I advised him to "put his mouth up where his principles were." I told him to go to the foreman, let him know he had been seen stealing, and to make it clear if it happened again he'd be reported to the management.

This is what the mail has been like:

Dear Ann Landers: I used to believe in high principles, too.

TIPS FOR PARENTS

By EDITH HENRY

Children all over the world take pen or pencil in hand and write to the United Nations—by the thousand.

"Will you please give me all the information you can about your country," is Allen's request.

After all, this child himself has a country—what more logical than to assume that the United Nations possess one, too!

All the letters are carefully answered and thus a seed of friendship is sown which if tended will flourish in a new generation.

About the age of 10 or 11, coached by discussion in school, children can begin to comprehend, if not the intricacies of the UN set-up, at least its general purpose.

Joseph, aged 11, was a bit confused, however, when he wrote: "I have been studying about the atomic bomb. I find it interesting and want to explore ahead."

"Please send me the plans for just a little atomic bomb." He was told that plans for the atomic bomb, even for the smaller varieties were not available for publication.

But since he had been kind enough to think of the UN, two picture books of the organization at work were being sent in the hope that he might want to "explore ahead" in the direction of global peace.

ENCOURAGEMENT

This seed of universal friendship needs a little encouragement in each home.

If there is interest of mother and father in letters abroad, in projects about other countries, in help for other children, then it will flourish indeed.

but they are too costly for working people.

I was employed in a department store. I knew a certain woman was stealing—"first small items, then larger ones. She reported them as 'shoplifted.' I told her if she didn't stop I would go to the boss."

She went to the boss first and reported me as a troublemaker with a wild imagination. In fact she made me sound like a nut. As a result I was demoted. She is now the boss's assistant. At my age I can't change jobs and start over. So I just play deaf, dumb and blind, and anyone who wants to back up a truck and empty the store can do it, for all I care.—ZXY

Dear Ann: I go along with you 99 per cent of the time, but on that foreman letter you goofed.

Do you know what a foreman can do to an employee? I do, because it happened to me. My foreman was stealing wallets and jewelry and I caught him red-handed. I told him to give back the stuff or else. He said "You didn't see anything, Bud."

The next week I had all the dirty jobs in the plant. Two weeks later I got a notice from upstairs that my work was inferior, and one month later I was canned.—LITTLE JOEY.

P.S. The foreman is still there.

Dear Ann Landers: Sorry I don't agree that the man who witnessed stealing should inform the fellow that if he doesn't stop it he'll tell. Smart guys keep their traps shut. Heroism is for jerks. Listen to my story:

I worked in a large office handling cash deposits. I became aware that one fellow was not putting through slips on all the money that he was taking in. I was sure he was pocketing about $50 a day. I went to the boss. The boss really told me off.

He said all his employees were honest. The next week I found out what the racket really was. This employee was holding out cash every day and giving it to the boss. In this way the boss didn't have to report it as income, and therefore did not pay taxes on it. Of course the employee came in for a small split.

I've decided there are so many lousy crooks in this world that an honest guy is a freak.—SMARTER NOW.

Dear Ann: The wisest thing for an employee to do when he catches a fellow worker stealing is not to tell the thief—but to inform management, so a check can be put on him. Then when the thief is caught, he's caught by management, and no one else need be involved.—MR. D.

Dear Mr. D.: I am inclined to agree that your advice is better than mine. I yield to your more practical and realistic point of view. Thank you.

Collars Disappearing

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stock up on scarves and bulky neck-laces when you start your spring clothes shopping.

For New York, fashion designers are doing a disappearing act with the collar. Dresses, suits and coats come with the collars totally absent or nothing more than a ring of fabric or a narrow cuff standing away from the throat.

Coats in the spring collections designers showed buyers last week ranged in silhouette from the fitted princess to boxy, bulky numbers cut on the straight of the goods, to swirling flares which we once called the pyramid shape.

Also important are coats with deep armholes and wide back narrowing to the hemline, coats which double as dresses, and coats with side instead of front and centre closing.

Many of the boxy coats have low slung half-belts across the back.

Designer Diana Adler was influenced by the Far East in her coat and suit designs for Carmel. She featured mandarin collars and kimono sleeves on both. Many came with silk scarves tied at one side of the neck.

At Leon Frechtel, a firm known for its fine tailoring, coats often came with princess shaping at the front, fullness at the back. Many sleeves were cropped at the elbow.

WHAT'S COOKING

By LOUISE MOORE

A muffin that is light and tender with a delicately browned crust is a joy to behold and wonderful to eat out a skimpy meal.

The less beating the better the batter. Just mix enough to dampen the dry ingredients and you're doing well. Overbeating causes the holes.

For special occasions make muffins in tiny pans. Vary them by spooning a little marmalade on top of each muffin before baking, place a walnut or pecan half on top of each before baking or tuck a half fresh date half way into the muffin before baking.

BASIC MUFFINS

Put into sifter 2 cups sifted pastry flour, 3 tsp. baking powder, 1/2 tsp. salt and 3 tbs. sugar. Sift.

Have oven preheated to 400 F. and pans greased before doing the mixing. Beat 1 large egg and add 1 cup milk and 3 tbs. melted shortening—butter is best or margarine. Add liquid ingredients to sifted dry ingredients and stir only until all dry ingredients are moistened. The batter should be left lumpy.

Spoon batter into the greased muffin pans and bake in hot oven as above about 20 minutes. Makes a dozen 2-inch muffins.

CORNMEAL MUFFINS

Have oven heated to 400 F. and pans greased. Put into sifter 2 cups sifted pastry flour, 1 tsp. soda, 1/2 tsp. baking powder, 1/2 tsp. salt and 1/2 cup sugar. Sift twice. Add 1 beaten egg, a scant 2/3 cup shortening to 1 cup sour milk and beat to mix. Stir into dry ingredients just enough for the dry ingredients to be moistened. Spoon into muffin pans, having them hot more than 2/3 full. Bake in hot oven 400 F. 20 minutes or until done.

BRAN MUFFINS

Put into sifter 1 1/4 cups sifted pastry flour, 1 tsp. soda, 1/2 tsp. salt and sift. Blend in 1 cup sifted brown sugar and 2 cups bran (natural). Combine 1 beaten egg, 1/4 cup melted shortening and 1 cup sour milk and combine with dry ingredients, mixing only enough for them to become moistened. Add 1/2 cup raisins if you wish, or chopped dates. Spoon into greased muffin pans and bake in hot oven (400 F.) about 20 minutes or until done.

Wool Portraits Acclaimed

CHETICAMP, N.S. (CP) — A Cape Breton rug hooker, whose creations hang in Buckingham Palace, the White House and the Vatican, has played a major role in reviving the folk artistry of her Acadian ancestors.

Miss Elisabeth La Fort of Cheticamp is widely acclaimed for her intricate portraits in wool.

Although her friends have been long-time proponents of her work, it was not until 1954 that she was "discovered" by Kenneth Hansford, a gift shop owner in Margaree Harbor. He persuaded her to hold a summer showing at his shop for the tourists.

Crest Winner Adds Main October Prize

Jeffery Mayea of Duncan, who won three Prince crests in The Daily Colonist King Fisherman contest this year, held on to his luck yesterday when one of his smaller fish—a 6.5-pound spring from Cowichan Bay—won him the main hidden-weight prize for October.

He wins a Sea King rod, Ocean City salmon reel and 300 yards of monofilament line, donated by Edward Lipsett Ltd. Mayea is one of three anglers to win three crests in this year's contest. He won coho and spring crests in August and a coho crest in October.

FIVE FOR ONE
The other two anglers who won three crests were Colin Menzies and Ray Wallis, who each won coho, bass and trout crests. Bob Wright won all five crests.

A world champion angler, Mrs. Paddy Hallberg, 216 Beechwood, who holds 11 coho records with a 31-pounder caught at Cowichan Bay several years ago, caught a whopping 17.3 coho at Cowichan Bay to win a $10 scrip from the T. Eaton Co. for the lady angler with the lucky October hidden weight.

STEELHEAD ROD
Paul Neilson, 4989 Prospect Lake Road, wins a steelhead rod for a 1.5 bass from Prospect Lake. He was tickled pink when told of his prize.

and so was his 13-year-old son Rene, who won a set of six Rhys Davis Strip-Teasers for a September fish, but their real aim was to win the King Fisherman bass trophy.

The whole Neilson family fishes and has caught a total of 150 pounds of bass, which was weighed into the Colonist.

TEASER LURES
Sets of six assorted Rhys Davis Teaser lures were won by Matt Isherwood, 112 Forest Road, Alberni, for a 34-pound tye caught at Port Alberni; George Burtnik, Alberni Quick-freeze Lockers, for a 34.8 tye caught at Port Alberni; R. E. Braidwood, 238 Gorge West for a 12-pound spring caught in Saanich Inlet; and Keith Palmer, 985 Island Road, for an 8.0-pound coho caught at Trial Island.

Prizes may be picked up at the Colonist editorial offices and in the case of out of town winners will be mailed or delivered.

Big Oil Tank Leaks 700,000 Gallons
STE. ROSALIE, Que. (CP)—Close to 700,000 gallons of fuel oil flowed from a damaged tank Wednesday but officials of the Irving Oil Co. said 400,000 gallons would be recovered.

The big tank of 1,000,000 gallons capacity had settled, causing a seam to open. Most of the oil was contained by a five-foot earthen dike.

Impeding Inspector

Court Charge Planned In Dairy Controversy

Henry Robinson, manager of the Milky Way Dairy Ltd., 815 Beckwith, has been summoned to appear in Saanich police court Tuesday on a charge of impeding an inspector from the provincial department of agriculture's dairy branch.

A controversy developed a year ago, when Agriculture Minister Newton P. Steacy decreed the dairy could not sell milk in 64-ounce containers. Nothing was done until Oct. 11 this year when Mr. Robinson received word from Mr.

Steacy that the dairy had until Oct. 31 to stop.

When dairy inspector Peter Regehr arrived this week to see if the order had been complied with, he was denied permission to enter. Mr. Robinson said he refused because Mr. Regehr allegedly interfered with operation of dairy equipment recently.

Yesterday Mr. Regehr returned with three Saanich police officers. He was again denied admission and was advised by the police he would have to get a court order to enter.

Noble Drink Dying

Beer Quarts Fading Fast

covered with those husky quart bottles.

"I think it was because people used to think there wasn't a man's drink in the pint."

But that's all changed now.

GONE DOWNHILL
The sale of quarts in Quebec and the parts of eastern Ontario where they have been sold has gone downhill steadily.

"At our recently-built brewing plant in Montreal, we have seven production lines. Four of them used to handle quarts exclusively and a fifth was used for both quarts and pints. ALL BUT ONE

"Today only one of the lines is putting out quarts and the rest pints."

To put the record straight, the beer "quart" contains 22 fluid ounces, compared with the 32 ounces in the bona fide quart measure. A "pint" of beer is 12 ounces—four ounces shy of the standard liquid pint.

CANS DISCOUNTED

While puzzling over the demise of the big bottle, Senator Molson discounted suggestions that beer drinkers are switching to suds in cans or disposable bottles.

"Beer has been sold in cans in Quebec for a number of years, but they never become very popular," he said.

COSTS ARE FINE
"They are fine for the 'cliff dwellers' in the big U.S. cities, where refrigerator space may be crowded in small apartments. But the cost factor is against them in this country. High cost is against disposable bottles as well.

"It has been shown statistically that in every country where beer consumption is high and spirits consumption low, there is less drunkenness."

Murders Piling Up

TORONTO (CP)—A murder charge laid against a woman accused in the fatal stabbing of her husband brought to 14 the murder charges laid this year in Metropolitan Toronto. It ties the previous high for one year in the metro area.

Edmonton Man's Plan

Across Atlantic In Eskimo Kayak

EDMONTON (CP) — Denis Bodkin, 29, of Edmonton, says he is planning to set out in mid-November to cross the Atlantic in a kayak.

He proposes to start from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., in the 20-foot reinforced plastic fibre Eskimo-style craft. He has been preparing for the voyage since 1958 and has collected $2,000 worth of equipment.

SAIL TO DINGHY

His kayak is equipped with sail and outrigger, air tanks, sextant, battery-operated radio direction finder, charts, fishing gear, spear and rubber dinghy.

Because of the kayak's size Bodkin will carry only 100 pounds of food and 11 gallons of fresh water.

FLUID PRESS

"I know that doesn't sound like much for four months but I'll be able to catch lots of fish and I have a press to squeeze pure fluid from fish to take the place of fresh water."

Bodkin, who has been studying the winds and currents of the south Atlantic for two years and spent every night for a month sleeping in a sitting position, hopes to complete the trip in just under four months.

KID'S DREAM

"At first it was only a kid's dream but when the Smith brothers from Nova Scotia crossed the Atlantic in a small dory in 1948 I was sure I could make it."

When Hans Lindeman of Germany went from the Canary Islands to Bermuda in a kayak in 1956, Bodkin was further encouraged. He has gained some experience in the craft while fishing off the Florida coast.

Forest Fire Disasters May Cost $5,000,000

British Columbia's disastrous 1960 forest fire season officially passed into history this week after racking up a near-record bill of $4,705,000.

Officials say claims and adjustments still pending on many of this year's 4,124 fires may push the total cost to an all-time high of more than $5,000,000.

Worst year was in 1958 when 4,120 fires cost the taxpayers $4,900,000.

Although statistics are far from complete, forest service spokesmen estimate the total area burned this year will be far below the 2,000,000 acres of 1958.

Near-final figures for the season, which began May 1, show the Vancouver district, which includes Vancouver Island, had 1,891 fires costing $96,500 to put out; Kamloops district, 1,153 fires costing $2,732,000; Nelson district, 614 fires at $1,325,500; Prince George, 326 fires at $486,000, and Prince Rupert district, 140 fires at $65,000.

Change Stand on Marriages Anglican Cleric Urges

TORONTO (CP)—An Anglican minister says it is time his church changed its stand on not performing marriages for divorced persons.

Writing in the current issue of The Canadian Churchman, the church's official publication, Rev. Sidney George West of Mount Dennis, Ont., says there is a steady drain on Anglican congregations by persons going over to another church so they can remarry.

"Many an Anglican priest has advised good people to slip over to another church to get married," he writes.

He says the church should establish committees, to include a Christian lawyer versed in canon law, to hear cases and determine whether a marriage in the eyes of God formerly existed. On advice of the committee, the bishop would issue or refuse permission to a minister to remarry the parties.

Industry Leaders Join to Fight High Arrow Dam

NELSON (CP) — Eight boards of trade have joined the Nelson Chamber of Commerce to fight construction of the High Arrow dam as part of the multi-million dollar Columbia River project.

The chamber and boards will be joined by a special citizens' protective committee and a farmers' institute.

The dam will turn the Arrow Lakes into a huge storage lake extending 135 miles from Castlegar to Revelstoke.

DISPLACE 1,652

It will raise the water level 42 feet and will displace 1,652 persons. It will produce no power but the U.S. will pay Canada half the power that the dam makes possible south of the border.

Spokesmen say they will bring up these points at public hearings into the Columbia project.

The dam is not necessary and a low-level dam at Murphy Creek would do the job just as effectively.

Gen. A. G. I. McNaughton, Canadian chairman of the international joint commission, has said the dam would not be in Canada's interest.

Twenty thousand acres of excellent land will be flooded by High Arrow and the lakes will be killed for recreation purposes and a growing tourist industry will be choked off.

Joining or expected to join the Nelson chamber are the boards of trade of Castlegar, Nakusp, Lower Arrow, Slocan Valley, Kaslo, Vernon, Revelstoke and Arrowhead.

Novel Ruled Not Obscene

LONDON (AP)—A jury of nine men and three women yesterday returned a verdict that the uncensored version of D. H. Lawrence's "Lady Chatterley's Lover" is not obscene, and thus gave the green light to its publication in Britain.

The jury's decision cleared Penguin Books Ltd., of Scotland Yard's charge that, in printing the unexpurgated copy of the dead author's work, they violated Britain's Obscene Publications Act.

Changeling?

Moscow radio yesterday flooded Iran with claims that new crown prince, above, is a changeling—not really the Shah's son but another baby placed in the cradle. Broadcasts were sent through Soviet-operated secret radio station located somewhere in Soviet Armenia. Shah's first son in three marriages was born Monday to Queen Farah. (AP Photofax).

Mitropoulos Dies at Rehearsal

Maestro Falls from Podium

MINARD'S
LINIMENT

MILAN, Italy (UPI)—Greek-born conductor Dimitri Mitropoulos collapsed and died yesterday of a cerebral hemorrhage as he was conducting the La Scala Opera House orchestra in a rehearsal of Mahler's Third Symphony.

Mitropoulos, 64, who regarded music as a means of reaching God, had returned to the La Scala podium for the first time in several years. He had suffered a heart attack Jan. 23, 1959 in New York.

"I am very touched at being among you after a long absence which was due to my health," he told the musicians yesterday as he mounted the podium. "I am just like an old car which needs repairs now and then. But, as you can see, I am still alive."

Then Maestro Mitropoulos gave the downbeat and the rehearsal of the Mahler symphony began. After 45 beats he waved the musicians to a halt and made some comment on the opening passage. He appeared ready to resume but suddenly put his right hand to his forehead and fell face first.

"Maestro, maestro!" the musicians cried as they rushed to his side.

A doctor was called and an ambulance ordered immediately. But the maestro died as the ambulance raced through Milan traffic.

Born in Athens, Mitropoulos was the son of a merchant. As a boy he almost made a vocation of religion. Two of his uncles were monks in the Greek Orthodox Church, and one of his great-uncles was an archbishop.

Young Dimitri planned to enter a monastery but changed his mind when he learned he would be forbidden to have a little harmonium. Instead he enrolled at the Athens Conservatory, where he quickly established himself as a virtuoso pianist and a gifted composer. While studying in Berlin, he discovered conducting and his true niche in music.

Influx of British On Rise Again

OTTAWA (CP)—Flow of British immigrants to Canada is on the rise again after a slump in 1958 and 1959.

This increased movement will be one of the chief factors in maintaining the total movement of immigrants to this country in 1960 at or slightly above last year.

An immigration department official said arrivals from many countries will be down this year compared with 1959 but that "the British flow is being sustained."

Present indications are that British arrivals in 1960 will exceed by several thousand the 19,361 who came to this country last year. They are expected to top Italian arrivals for the first time since 1957.

A further increase in British arrivals is anticipated in 1961, especially among professional and skilled persons. This forecast is based mainly on the number of enquiries from British people interested in migrating.

Total immigration to Canada this year is expected to exceed 107,000 but not be more than 110,000, compared with 106,928 in 1959.

A 14-year-old boy, missing since last Friday from his sister's home in Saanich, was located Tuesday at a Vancouver railroad station and is now back in Victoria.

Fault of the Business?

Status Shames Insurance Men

WINNIPEG (CP)—A Winnipeg insurance executive says it's the fault of the insurance business itself that insurance men rank only halfway up on the social status scale.

T. Bruce Ross, vice-president and general manager of the Canadian Fire Insurance Company, was speaking at the annual luncheon of the Insurance Institute of Winnipeg.

"What makes me hang my head in shame is that we are actually held to be of less status than a bookkeeper," Mr. Ross said.

small store manager, electrician, columnist or a radio announcer."

He referred to a study by United States sociologists, in which the insurance salesman ranked 51st in a 90-occupation list.

"The only reason I can think of is that we have not taken the necessary steps to impart to our clients and the public at large the importance of our job, the knowledge and brains required and, perhaps, the financial rewards we enjoy," Mr. Ross said.

Thieves Throw A Party

DUNCAN — Thieves who broke into the armory here accepted the 'unoffered hospitality of Canadian Scottish A Company officers and sergeants and threw a party in the mess before making off with $100 worth of liquor.

Police investigating the theft hope they may be able to track down the culprits by lifting fingerprints off the glasses they used.

'Safe Driver' Wins First Black Mark

NANAIMO — A Colwood man who holds an 11-year safe-driving trophy was fined $150 and lost his driver's licence for 20 days when he appeared in police court here on a charge of impaired driving.

Arnold Richard Edwards was charged after his car collided with another vehicle at Terminal Avenue and Comox Road.

Cherish Hard-Won Rights Newest Canadians Told

DUNCAN — Judge S. J. Remnant told nine new Canadians yesterday that settlers "paid dearly" for the rights and privileges that make this country among the most democratic in the world.

Earlier in the day he rejected applications from three persons when questions disclosed that they did not have enough knowledge of the country to suit him.

To those whose bids for citizenship were accepted he pointed out that early Canadians fought and died for the right to vote by secret ballot, and for protection against unjust interference with a Canadian's rights.

"In the countries from which some of you have come, these freedoms and privileges used to be enjoyed by the people, but have now been taken away," he said.

"It is one of your responsibilities to see that that does not happen here."

He gave citizenship papers to Mrs. Eve-Jane Wolf, Mrs. Margit Westwick, Mr. and Mrs. Abraham F. Warman, Mrs. Olga Pat. Mr. and Mrs. Peter Knauer, Mrs. Margerite Jessen and Karl Behme.

Driver Regains Severed Ear

BRADFORD, Ont. (CP)—Vincent Butrinis of Toronto is recovering in hospital from a car accident in which he lost an ear but later regained it due to the vigilance of a police officer and the skill of a doctor.

Const. James Murphy was patrolling a highway near Cookstown Monday night when he saw a truck go out of control and plunge into a ditch. The driver was uninjured but Butrinis, 48, was thrown through the windshield.

After the constable took the injured man to Dr. B. W. McFarland in Bradford, he returned to the accident scene, found Butrinis' severed ear and brought it back to the doctor's office in a bottle. It was then heated to room temperature and stitched into place.

Bradford is about 30 miles north of Toronto.

Accidents Worry Schools

School authorities yesterday promised immediate action following the third traffic accident in three days involving pupils from North Ward Elementary School.

Latest victim was five-year-old John Danvers, 2219 Blanshard, injured when he ran into the side of a car turning left off Douglas onto Kings Road about 3:15 p.m. Also crossing the street in the crosswalk was his twin brother, Alan, who spotted the car and ran back to safety. Both are in Grade 1 at North Ward.

MINOR INJURIES

John was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, treated for minor injuries and returned home.

Alan said John was looking backward as he ran across the intersection. After the accident the boys were worried about the banging John's new lunch bucket received.

Police said the driver of the car was Irene Gehring, 2845 Rita.

LONGER PATROLS

Thomas Smith, chairman of the safety committee for Victoria and District Parent-Teacher Council, said school crossing patrols should be retained at busy intersections for at least 20 minutes and possibly half an hour after school is dismissed.

On three successive days this week youngsters have been struck by cars at busy intersections within minutes of the dismissal of the school crossing patrol at 3:10 p.m.

PRINCIPALS TO MEET

District schools superintendent John Gough said principals of all elementary schools in Greater Victoria would be called immediately, and the question would be discussed at a principals' meeting Monday.

Mr. Gough said "very serious consideration" would be given to retaining school crossing patrols on duty longer at certain schools and certain intersections.

GOOD PROTECTION

Mr. Smith said school patrols, kept alert and holding their warning flags up high so that motorists can't miss seeing them, provide good protection for pupils in traffic.

He suggested size of the present flag used by school patrols might be doubled, and added, "We think it would be a good idea if a teacher was at busy intersections to provide supervision."

AVAILABLE

All three accidents involving school children this week, said Mr. Smith, probably could have been avoided if school patrols had been on duty at the time.

Meanwhile, police expressed concern at the general increase in traffic accidents on Victoria streets last month, and Chief Constable John Blackstock warned motorists and pedestrians alike to use more care.

HIGH TOTAL

October figures for the city show a total of 126 accidents compared with an average for the past 10 years of between 90 and 100.

"Naturally, weather is a factor—but it is a factor of which the driver in particular should be especially aware," the police chief said.

"He should be sure his windshield wipers and defroster are working properly—and not drive until he can see properly. He should check his tires and avoid driving on smooth rubber."

"The October picture was a bad one, ending with 16 accidents last weekend alone."

"Now November has started with three youngsters involved in collisions with cars on the first three days of this week."

Twin Saw Brother Injured

Prisoners Refuse To Work in Rain

VANCOUVER (CP)—Warden Hugh Christie said Tuesday 62 Oakalla prisoners have staged passive sit-down strikes in protest against daily chores.

He said the strikers were immediately segregated and deprived of privileges. Fifteen decided to return to work.

"The transition of summer to winter is not good in prison because the inmates have to go outside to work in rain," he said.

"The east wing, which includes mostly addicts and habitual delinquents, had 62 of the 200 who refused to work in the rain."

Christie said the prisoners wear rainhats, raincoats, waterproof trousers and rubber boots.

Some of the privileges taken from the strikers were letter-writing, visits, radio, smoking.

Gas, Germ Armory To Double

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The defence department plans to more than double its spending on weapons for gas and germ warfare during the next few years, army sources said yesterday.

Historically, U.S. policy is to use these weapons only in self-defence.

Unionists Can't Afford Union-Made Clothes

NEWTON STEACY
... point to farmers

Steacy Hedges, Denies 'Bombshell'

By PETER BRUTON

Agriculture Minister Newton P. Steacy has reportedly told farmers' representatives B.C.'s controversial Bill 43 was "just the beginning" and the government is preparing tougher labor legislation.

The minister, asked for confirmation, hedged a little before denying the report.

His bombshell was allegedly dropped at a meeting here with the advisory board of farmers' institutes Tuesday.

BOARD SHOCKED

Informed sources said the board was "shocked" by the disclosure.

Bill 43, passed in 1959, restricts the rights of unions to picket premises and makes unions legal entities which can be sued for damages.

Mr. Steacy was said to have made the remark "to illustrate a point."

PRESSING ISSUES

Members of the board made a number of recommendations on the most pressing problems of agriculture in B.C. They had planned a statement on the meeting but were ordered not to do so by Mr. Steacy.

Sources said the board agreed to abide by the ruling because it did not want to get "off-side" with the new minister.

RESIGN SOON?

Mr. Steacy, defeated Sept. 12, is expected to resign shortly. (He said yesterday he expected official duties would keep him out of Victoria until early December.)

The board was reportedly disappointed Mr. Steacy called the meeting before a new minister was named.

PEACE HALTED

Former practice was for the board to present recommendations to the legislative committee on agriculture, made up of MLAs of all parties. But Mr. Steacy ordered this stopped amid an outcry from farmers.

"It's strictly a matter of internal discussions between the board and the department," he said.

NEVER POLICY

The government would consider the recommendations and might use some but "these recommendations are a matter of government policy and we never discuss policy."

However, it was learned one recommendation called on B.C. to do everything in its power in conjunction with the federal government to alleviate the cost-price "squeeze" on farmers.

Another urged "extreme vigilance" with regard to the importation of lamb and its

Ike to Rescue Says Kennedy

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower led a massive Republican onslaught on New York yesterday in a major effort to swing the state's crucial 45 electoral votes to Vice-President Richard Nixon.

Sen. John Kennedy immediately taunted that the Republicans had sent Eisenhower out to lead a "rescue squad" for Nixon.

(See other stories on Page 8.)

It was the president's biggest effort yet on behalf of his vice-president and potential successor, and came in a state where some polls show that the lead right now is held by Kennedy.

KEY STATES

With the election only six days off, both presidential candidates were concentrating their fire on states with the biggest electoral votes of all. While Nixon was in New York, Kennedy was stumping California, whose 32 electoral votes are matched only by Pennsylvania.

The Eisenhower and Nixon New York campaign included a blizzard-like ticker-tape parade up Broadway, two huge rallies, and frankly political speeches by the president.

FACES CHOICE

Eisenhower said that, on election day the nation may face a choice between "the cataclysm of war" and "the principles that made the United States great."

He said that "Richard Nixon and Cabot Lodge offer the finest type of leadership available to this nation."

For his part, Nixon declared, with the president at his side, that "Henry Cabot Lodge and I have been with the president, have been in his presence when great decisions were made."

It was the president's joint appearance with Nixon and

Starving Bears Invade Suburbs of Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Brown bears, small, hungry and for the most part harmless, are turning up in garbage cans, fruit trees, back gardens and even streets and bridges in suburban North and West Vancouver.

Some are shot by police while others are taken into custody by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

PAINTED

In the latter case they are slapped with a paintbrush full of luminous paint and sent back to the mountains.

The SPCA, which violently objects to the shooting of the animals, says the bears are being driven out of the mountains behind north shore municipalities by a lack of food. It is the first time since 1932 there has been any problem.

The lack of food is caused by heavier than usual rains in this normally rainy area and a construction boom is moving houses higher up the mountains.

LOTS OF CALLS

Tom Hughes, executive director of the SPCA for Greater Vancouver, said the organization has received hundreds of calls. He estimates there must be 3,000 bears in the mountains adjacent to the built-up areas.

Several bears have been shot as they scampered up trees and telephone poles; others have been captured by unique methods.

One man phoned the SPCA to report there was one in his garage can.

"Sit on it," said the SPCA—so the man clamped the lid on the can and sat there until a truck arrived to take the bear away.

Sunday a cub tried to cross the busy new Second Narrows Bridge to Vancouver. Some adventurous youths captured it and held it for the SPCA.

Three persons were bitten and scratched while capturing the cub. One of them was SPCA inspector Joseph Cookson, who later fumed upon hearing a report that the cub was being held for a rabies check.

NONSENSE

"Nonsense. The bear's natural tendency was to defend himself."

Mr. Cookson suggests a solution to the food problem for next year—ask all the big department stores to let the organization truck their garbage up to the mountains.

Mr. Hughes says the problem will not last much longer this year—the bears already starting to go into hibernation.

Must Wait Says Government

NANAIMO — A temporary chronic hospital for the Nanaimo area is apparently out of the question, Gordon Frith, General Hospital administrator, told the old age pensioners' association.

Mr. Frith said the hospital board has twice made chronic care suggestions to the provincial government and has been told it would have to wait until the new regional hospital is completed so the present hospital building can be renovated for chronic cases.

Residents living near the present hospital will also have to wait until completion of the new 200-bed institution before they can get rid of a smoke nuisance.

Mr. Frith sympathized with residents of the area who complained of excessive smoke, dust and dirt which spirals out of the hospital chimney and falls on their houses, but said nothing can be done at present.

Alderman John Cook, city representative on the board, said that when the old building is renovated the entire heating system will be changed and the smoke nuisance eliminated.

Construction In Nanaimo Hits New High

NANAIMO — A record month in Nanaimo's construction history was set for building permits in October.

The figure topped the $3,000,000 mark. Building inspector Bea Boers said the permit for the new regional hospital totalled nearly $2,979,000. A permit for an eight-suite apartment was also issued.

Russian Movie Festival's Best

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Soviet film Ballad of a Soldier won a double victory Tuesday at the San Francisco film festival.

Judges voted the first Soviet film to be entered in the festival as best picture and awarded Grigori Tchukhray the prize for best direction.

Child Bumped In 13-Foot Fall

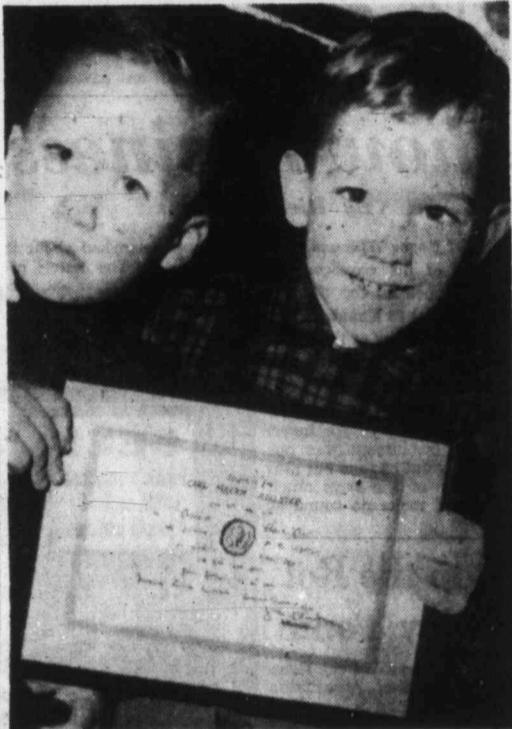

VANCOUVER (CP) — A 2½-year-old girl tumbled from a second-storey apartment window Wednesday and escaped with only a few bumps on the head, Corrine Hughes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Hughes, fell 13 feet to the sidewalk below.

Fair Aide Paid In Pea Fowl Pair

DUNCAN — A secretary's honorarium is usually paid in cash but the Cowichan Exhibition board is somewhat hard-pressed this year so Kathleen Mynkantas settled for a pair of pea fowl.

"They are priceless," Miss Mynkantas said graciously.

The pea fowl, a cock and a hen, were donated to the board by Mrs. Paul Chapman.

Scroll for Youngest Hero

Canada's youngest hero, two-year-old Carl Allester of Chemainus, left, doesn't quite know what it's all about but obligingly displays Rotary Club scroll bearing gold farthing which was presented to him for alerting searchers to plight of four-year-old Keith Hess, right, who had fallen down a well and was unconscious after being in the water 15 minutes. — (Colonist photo by Charles Thompson.)

Farthing Catches Eye

Life-Saver Bewildered By the Fuss

CHEMAINUS — Chief concern of a two-year-old boy who two weeks ago saved his four-year-old pal from drowning is how to get at a gold farthing framed and mounted for him by Chemainus Rotarians.

The farthing, which little Carl Allester calls a "penny," is mounted as part of a scroll which was presented to him for his forthright action in leading searchers to the unconscious form of Keith Hess who had fallen into an abandoned well.

The scroll was presented to the slightly bewildered youngster at a dinner meeting which he attended with his father.

Said his father following the presentation, "He didn't seem to think much of the award but he had a good time at the dinner."

Fourth Steel Barge Launched by VMD

Fourth steel barge built at Victoria Machinery Depot under a $390,000 contract for Island Tug and Barge Ltd. was launched yesterday.

The barges, each 100 feet long with a 44-foot beam and a carrying capacity of more than 140,000 cubic feet, will be used mostly to haul wood chips between Port Townsend, Duncan Bay and Vancouver.

After finishing touches have been made on the latest barge at VMD, it will be moved early next week to Point Hope shipyard on the Inner Harbor, where Island Tug will do some last-minute adjustments.

The barges sport ITB's new fire-engine red and white color scheme. A company spokesman said yesterday a gradual changeover from the present green and white colors will be carried out on all Island Tug scows.

Slab to Mark Start Of 'High-Rise' Block

Victoria's first "high-rise" apartment block has begun rising on Douglas across from Beacon Hill Park.

First-floor slab of the $600,000 concrete building is scheduled to be poured Friday. When complete, the block being built by Westcott Construction Ltd. will have eight storeys and 60 suites.

Three areas in James Bay were recently rezoned to allow this type of development, with a height limit of 12 storeys.

So far, only one permit has been issued, but city planning and inspection chief Roderick Clack said yesterday he has had "five or six serious discussions" in connection with possible other applications.

Cadet Post for Hoard

Robert T. Hoard was elected vice-chairman of the B.C. Air Cadet League for Vancouver Island, at the recent annual meeting of the Air Cadet League of Canada at Sea Island, Vancouver.

Mr. Hoard, as vice-chairman, will be responsible for Air Cadet Squadrons at Courtenay, Port Alberni, Nanaimo, Ladysmith, Sidney and Victoria.

Surprise!

Seventh Theft Alarms

DUNCAN — Thieves have entered a lumber yard here undetected six times so far this year but on the seventh occasion they got a surprise.

"I got fed up with it all and put in a burglar alarm," said H. J. Vickers, proprietor of Bazett and Vickers Lumber Co. Ltd.

The thief gained entry to a large storeroom by breaking a window, but when a window into the firm's office was broken an outside bell started clanging.

It brought police on the run from the nearby police station, but the thieves were equally fleet of foot and had vanished into the night.

Nanaimo

'Clean-Up' Added To Fall

NANAIMO—Nov. 14 to 18 is being named "Community Clean-Up Week" in Nanaimo. For several years it has been the policy of the city to provide free collection service to householders to remove all unwanted rubbish, other than rocks and garden refuse, which may have accumulated during the year.

These campaigns have been held in the spring during the national "beautification week" and now the city is going to extend it to a twice-a-year drive.

Telegraph Merger Probe Completed

FORT WILLIAM (CP) — The board of transport commissioners Wednesday completed hearings on a proposal to amalgamate CP and CN telegraph offices in Fort William with a promise that a judgment will be handed down as soon as possible.

Proposal was opposed by the commercial telegraphers' union with the support of Fort William groups.

PAUL STROMKINS
"... Do it Again for That"

Rowed for Rescuers

Chilly Plunge Taken in Stride By 70-Year-Old

Seventy-year-old Paul Stromkins, 852 Selkirk, just couldn't understand what the fuss was all about.

He was simply gathering firewood in his skiff when it tipped over and threw him into the icy waters of the Gorge.

While he calmly prepared to remove his clothes so he could swim to shore people started to try to rescue him.

Said the doughty septuagenarian last night, "I was going to take my clothes off and swim in when I saw the neighbors coming out from shore—when you can swim good you don't get over-excited."

When the rescuers reached the scene in another boat Mr. Stromkins insisted on rowing it back to shore himself.

Then he spurned a Saanich police offer of a lift to hospital where he could get a checkup.

When he spied his wife coming towards him down the shore carrying a glass of brandy he quipped, "I'll jump in again for that."

After knocking back the brandy he thanked his rescuers, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Longstaff, 1019 Arcadia, and allowed as how he'd go home and have a hot shower.

Over Arena Walkout

Council Snoopers Irritate Mulliner

The Memorial Arena commission doesn't feel required to report to city council on internal matters at the arena, chairman Frank G. Mulliner said last night—such as the resignation of six employees in a disagreement with manager Joe Dukowski.

Informed that Ald. Hugh Ramsay plans to ask today for a full report on the resignations, Mr. Mulliner said the five-man commission is fully responsible for running the arena and "not responsible to city council."

Council appoints the commissioners, however, and could, he said, "get rid of us if it wanted to."

Ald. Ramsay, council's arena committee chairman, said yesterday he is "disturbed about the publicity on the resignations and any time that six people quit in a short period of time, I think there should be a full explanation for the reasons."

Mr. Mulliner indicated the commission is concerned only with the resignations of office manager Kenneth Noakes and two other "permanent staff" members; the others, he said, were part-time employees.

(The part-time employees, he had said earlier, "come and go frequently." But a check yesterday showed the six employees concerned had a total of 34 years' full or part-time service: Mr. Noakes 11 years, Mrs. Patricia Read eight, Mrs. Dorothy Bule six, Patricia Crust five, Mrs. Mary Jones more than one, and Robert Harris, three.)

The commission, Mr. Mulliner indicated, has been satisfied with Mr. Dukowski's management of the arena.

"We look to him for results," he said, "and he did a good job last year."

Firecracker Hurler On Probation

A juvenile, who admitted throwing a firecracker that started a fire causing about $1,000 damage to a storeroom garage in Sidney earlier this week, last night was placed on six months' probation in juvenile court.

A firecracker tossed onto a sawdust pile started a smoldering fire which later destroyed the garage owned by G. E. Hochstetter, 10559 Patricia Bay Highway.

Black Refuses Comment On McKay Resignation

Welfare Minister Wesley D. Black refused comment yesterday on the resignation of Miss Ruby McKay, superintendent of child welfare.

Miss McKay resigned in a difference over government policies and will leave her post at the end of the year. She said it was up to Mr. Black to give the reasons.

"No, no," said Mr. Black yesterday. "It's up to Miss McKay to speak."

"That's interesting," said Miss McKay when told of her minister's statement. "Well, I have no comment at this time."

'No Harm'

Go-Kart Park Backed

Approval of establishment of a "go-kart" track, trampoline court and drive-in restaurant on the industrial reserve just east of Victoria West Park was recommended to city council yesterday by parks committee.

The provincial lands department asked for the city's views before transferring a lease to Spoozy Singh, who plans the development.

"I can't see any harm in it," said Ald. M. H. Mooney, and Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson agreed with him.

The committee also recommended:

- Approval of a B.C. Yacht Brokers' plan for a 60-foot fill in the Inner Harbor near Johnson Street bridge to serve as a berth for the hydrofoil vessel Flying Fish.

- Rejection of a request from the Victoria Minor Canadian Football Association for the waiving of Royal Athletic Park fees for a game between Victoria All-Stars and Winnipeg Rams. Waiving the fees would set a precedent, the committee decided.

Pacific Tow Of Sections Another First

The Victoria deepsea tug Sudbury II was scheduled to sail from Yokohama today with two tanker mid-sections at the end of her towline to tow Pacific towing "firsts" for Island Tug and Barge Ltd.

It will be the first time two tanker mid-sections, each 375 feet long, have been towed from Japan to California, and also the first occasion on which ITB tugs have made a tow both to and from Japan on the same voyage.

A sister tug, Cambrian Salvor, was reported yesterday making good headway with its tow of two former Liberty ships headed for the Japanese shipbreakers yard.

Biggest Bulk Carrier Takes On Wheat Load

Largest bulk carrier ever to use Ogden Point docks is the Greek registry Sifnos loading 2,000 tons of wheat at Victoria Grain Elevator. She will go on to Vancouver to load rest of 21,000-ton cargo for Europe.

Back in Saddle Again

Back in the saddle yesterday and with an itchy trigger finger is 7-year-old Daniel Swain, 1020 Catherine, who suffered cut lip and nose when struck by a car Halloween night. Dan spurned new shootin' irons and patched up pair which police recovered for him at accident scene.—(Colonist photo.)

Columbia Co-ordinator

New Post and Son For Hydro Official

Yesterday was a big day in the life of B.C. Power Commission executive Garth Griffiths—he was appointed co-ordinator of the Columbia River development, and his wife, June, returned home from hospital with their 7-day-old son, Evan.

"I don't know which job appeals to me most... changing diapers or working on the Columbia," he said last night.

His appointment to the Columbia post was announced yesterday by Dr. Hugh Keenleyside, chairman of the power commission. The position has been created on a temporary basis.

Duties of the co-ordinator will include compiling and maintaining records of project schedules, keeping in touch with firms engaged on the huge project and preparing reports on progress.

Mr. Griffiths, 47, was manager of consumer services. He joined the power commission in April, 1946, a year after the commission was formed.

He is a past chairman of the Vancouver Island branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada, a member of the council of the B.C. Association of Professional Engineers and a past chairman of the Victoria branch of the Public Administration Institute of Canada.

Civil Servant Dues Deductions Gone for Good, Reports Insist

Peter Bruton's Capital Notebook

CHECKOFF DRAMA: Legislative buildings rumor has it that no matter which way the vote goes next month the government will not reinstitute payroll deduction of dues again for the B.C. Government Employees' Association.

Both Premier Bennett and Provincial Secretary Wesley D. Black, asked if this report was true, replied with a terse "no comment."

The government ordered the checkoff of dues stopped a few weeks ago because of the association's continued affiliation with the B.C. Federation of Labor which is joining with the CCF to form the new political party.

As a result of this action the 11,000 members of the association will vote in mid-December to decide whether they should remain affiliated with the federation.

Members feel that if they vote to disaffiliate they will get checkoff dues again. But this looks a vain hope.

Latest statistics, he says, show the net profit for North American restaurants is a mere 3.8 cents on the dollar even though some specialty houses can make up to 15 to 20 per cent profit.

And 50 per cent of all new restaurants fail.

'Soft-Sell' Blamed For Lag in Chest

Blaming "lazy" canvassers and a "soft sell" approach to an apathetic public, Community Chest campaign chairman Bernard Van Aggelen said yesterday the 1960 drive will fail by about $63,000.

'Fire Trap' Growth Hit

NANAIMO—Temporary buildings erected on Nanaimo's Terminal Avenue are turning the area into another "Chinatown," according to Ald. William McGregor.

Nanaimo's Chinatown, consisting largely of aged frame buildings, was almost completely destroyed by fire recently.

He said he had been battling for some years to get rid of temporary structures allowed in the area which is in No. 1 fire zone.

The comment was made in discussion of an application for another temporary car salesroom on Terminal Avenue. Permits for previous structures were issued on a six-month basis but some have been extended several times.

City council agreed that new businesses should be helped in establishing here, but wants some time restriction placed on temporary permits. The matter was placed in committee for action.

PARKSVILLE—Annual congregational dinner of St. Anne's Anglican Church will be held at 7 p.m. today at the Canadian Legion Hall in Parksville.

DUNCAN—A 15-year-old boy who kicked out a heavy glass door when being thrown out of a cafe Monday night has been sentenced to Brannan Lake Boys' School for six months.

Police said he was arrested for being drunk, causing wilful damage and for being in possession of a "burp" gun which could fire a bolt or marble by means of a firecracker.

PORT ALBERNI—Some 790 men and women were listed as unemployed applicants on Oct. 31 at the unemployment insurance commission office here as compared with 586 on the same date last year.

Benefit claimants were up to 505, an increase of 104 from 1959.

Approximately $31,777 was paid out in benefits during the past month. In October 1959 the figure was $25,374.

right turn and his car went off the left side of the Trans-Canada Highway about half a mile north of Duncan.

The car turned over and came to rest upside down.

ALBERNI—A total of 10.25 inches of rain fell at the McCoy Lake weather station in the past month, according to weather observer Colin S. Wilson.

He said the average rainfall for October is 6.93 inches. Mean temperature for the past month was 51 degrees, one degree higher than the average, while there were 64.9 hours of sunshine bringing the total for the year to 1,369 hours.

NANAIMO—The annual Christmas seal campaign will be carried out again this year in the central part of Vancouver Island.

The Nanaimo Kiwanis Club is sponsoring the drive and committee chairman Frank Hanna reports that 5,000 campaign envelopes have been addressed by commercial students at St. Ann's Academy.

NANAIMO—Nanaimo and District United Appeal drive for 1960 has reached the 62 per cent mark.

Publicity chairman Frank Ney reported that $33,100 has been collected so far and the campaign is still going strong.

DUNCAN—IWA Local 1-80 president George Smythe was in good condition yesterday recovering from a heart attack.

Hospital officials said Mr. Smythe is expected to be moving around in a wheelchair in King's Daughters' Hospital in about one week.

He suffered the heart attack Oct. 6.

NANAIMO—The Old Age Pensioners' Association of Nanaimo has urged the city council to back a resolution to the federal government to freeze wages and costs at once.

The Nanaimo city fathers took no action on the letter, feeling it should be forwarded to the Dominion and provincial governments.

After hearing the campaign chief at a meeting held in a "backs-to-the-wall" atmosphere, Chest idrectors extended the drive an extra two weeks beyond the original closing date Friday.

DONATIONS IN STORES
Arrangements will be made soon with stores downtown to accept donations from shoppers.

Mr. Van Aggelen said it is expected all divisions of the campaign will fall below respective targets, with the residential canvass as much as $20,000 below its goal.

LESS THAN GAIN
Estimated return from the campaign canvass is $45,500, compared to $66,300 donated last year. The target this year was only $65,000—less than the amount gained last year.

"I think the tone of the campaign this year—a 'soft sell' manner—has worked adversely," campaign chairman Bernard Van Aggelen angrily told officials. "We have opened up an avenue for people to open the door and smile and say: 'No thanks.'"

HARD-SELL
A "hard-sell" campaign was instituted in 1958 by Justin Harbord, then campaign chairman. Target for the appeal was $300,000. A total of $266,990 was raised.

"We are no different canvassing than a salesman selling his wares. I believe we have a good product and we have to sell it."

NO CALL-BACKS
A lot of canvassers have not been making their call-backs, and it is time the area chairman got on their backs," Mr. Van Aggelen continued.

"These people have accepted a task to do and they should do it well. We have to get tough with these people. They said 'Yes,' so let them fulfill their obligations."

FAIR SHARE
If members of the public who can afford to donate to the Chest had donated on a fair-share basis the campaign target would be met, Mr. Van Aggelen said.

"I think we are now accepting an excuse 'My husband gave at work,' which is a pretty good crutch for people with a canvasser staring them in the face. The figures do not bear them out."

HURT DRIVE
Campaigns by other bodies, particularly the Royal Jubilee Hospital building appeal, have also hurt the Chest drive, he added.

"Eighty-five per cent of the people say they want a united appeal. If 85 per cent of the people supported the Chest we would not have a deficit."

Sir Richard McBride put a reserve on the land in order to get rid of the squatters.

Yesterday, 51 years later, cabinet of Premier W. A. C. Bennett got around to removing the reserve.

So she wrote the entertainer to see what he had said.

TOUGHER LAWS FOR LABOR BEING PREPARED BY B.C.?

Action Pledged

Third Pupil Injured

School authorities yesterday promised immediate action following the third traffic accident in three days involving pupils from North Ward Elementary School.

Latest victim was five-year-old John Danvers, 2219 Blanshard, injured when he ran into the side of a car turning left off Douglas onto Kings Road about 3.15 p.m. Also crossing the street in the crosswalk was his twin brother, Alan, who spotted the car and ran back to safety. Both are in Grade 1 at North Ward.

MINOR INJURIES

John was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, treated for minor injuries and returned home.

Alan said John was looking backward as he ran across the intersection. After the accident the boys were worried about the banging John's new lunch bucket received.

Police said the driver of the car was Irene Gehring, 2845 Rita.

LONGER PATROLS

Thomas Smith, chairman of the safety committee for Victoria and District Parent-Teacher Council, said school crossing patrols should be retained at busy intersections for at least 20 minutes and possibly half an hour after school is dismissed.

On three successive days this week youngsters have been struck by cars at busy intersections within minutes of the dismissal of the school crossing patrol at 3.10 p.m.

PRINCIPALS TO MEET

District schools superintendent John Gough said principals of all elementary schools in Greater Victoria would be called immediately, and the question would be discussed at a principals' meeting Monday.

Mr. Gough said "very serious consideration" would be given to retaining school crossing patrols on duty longer at certain schools and certain intersections.

GOOD PROTECTION

Mr. Smith said school patrols, kept alert and holding their warning flags up high so that motorists can't miss seeing them, provide good protection for pupils in traffic.

He suggested size of the present flags used by school patrols might be doubled, and added, "We think it would be a good idea if a teacher was at busy intersections to provide supervision."

AVOIDABLE

All three accidents involving school children this week, said Mr. Smith, probably could have been avoided if school patrols had been on duty at the time.

Meanwhile, police expressed concern at the general increase in traffic accidents on Victoria streets last month, and Chief Constable John Blackstock warned motorists and pedestrians alike to use more care.

October figures for the city show a total of 126 accidents compared with an average for the past 10 years of between 90 and 100.

"Naturally, weather is a factor—but it is a factor of which the driver in particular should be especially aware," the police chief said.

"He should be sure his windshield wipers and defroster are working properly—and not drive until he can see properly. He should check his tires and avoid driving on smooth rubber."

Prisoners Refuse To Work in Rain

VANCOUVER (CP)—Warden-Hugh Christie said Tuesday 62 Oakalla prisoners have staged passive sit-down strikes in protest against daily chores.

He said the strikers were immediately segregated and deprived of privileges. Fifteen decided to return to work.

"The transition of summer to winter is not good in prison because the inmates have to go outside to work in rain," he said.

"The east wing, which includes mostly addicts and habitual delinquents, had 62 of the 200 who refused to work in the rain."

Christie said the prisoners wear rainhats, raincoats, waterproof trousers and rubber boots.

Some of the privileges taken from the strikers were letter-writing, visits, radio, smoking.

A difference of opinion on whether the opinion is correct arose Tuesday night at a meeting of the Winnipeg and district Trades and Labor Council.

Railway Brotherhood representative William Brown recalled that several years ago a labor reporter discovered several union officials wearing suits that weren't union-made.

"Many union members can't pay the higher price for union-made suits, and we must get the wages higher for these men so they can afford the suits," he said.

Gas, Germ Armory To Double

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The defence department plans to more than double its spending on weapons for gas and germ warfare during the next few years, army sources said yesterday.

Historically, U.S. policy is to use these weapons only in self-defence.

The non-lethal chemical weapons could temporarily immobilize enemy troops or populations in enemy cities without permanent damage.

Steacy Denies 'Bombshell'

By PETER BRUTON

Agriculture Minister Newton P. Steacy has reportedly told farmers' representatives B.C.'s controversial Bill 43 was "just the beginning" and the government is preparing tougher labor legislation.

The minister, asked for confirmation, hedged a little before denying the report. His bombshell was allegedly dropped at a meeting here with the advisory board of farmers' institutes Tuesday.

BOARD SHOCKED

Informed sources said the board was "shocked" by the disclosure.

Bill 43, passed in 1959, restricts the rights of unions to picket premises and makes unions legal entities which can be sued for damages.

Mr. Steacy was said to have made the remark "to illustrate a point."

PRESSING ISSUES

Members of the board made a number of recommendations on the most pressing problems of agriculture in B.C. They had planned a statement on the meeting but were ordered not to do so by Mr. Steacy.

Sources said the board agreed to abide by the ruling because it did not want to get "off-side" with the new minister.

RESIGN SOON?

Mr. Steacy, defeated Sept. 12, is expected to resign shortly. (He said yesterday he expected official duties would keep him out of Victoria until early December.)

The board was reportedly disappointed Mr. Steacy called the meeting before a new minister was named.

PRACTICE HALTED

Former practice was for the board to present recommendations to the legislative committee on agriculture, made up of MLAs of all parties. But Mr. Steacy ordered this stopped amid an outcry from farmers.

"It's strictly a matter of internal discussions between the board and the department," he said.

NEVER POLICY

The government would consider the recommendations and might use some but "these recommendations are a matter of government policy and we never discuss policy."

However, it was learned one recommendation called on B.C. to do everything in its power in conjunction with the federal government to alleviate the cost-price "squeeze-play" on farmers.

Another urged "extreme vigilance" with regard to the importation of lamb and its grading so that imported mutton would be sold as mutton and not lamb.

The board also asked the government to take over the East Kootenay Power Co. and place it in the hands of the B.C. Power Commission.

EXPROPRIATION

The government was also requested to enact a new expropriation act to ensure a person's property was not taken away unfairly.

Another recommendation was that long-term, low-interest loans be made available in B.C. for capital works as is the case in the prairie provinces.

Ike to Rescue Says Kennedy

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower led a massive Republican onslaught on New York yesterday in a major effort to swing the state's crucial 45 electoral votes to Vice-President Richard Nixon.

Sen. John Kennedy immediately taunted the Republicans had sent Eisenhower out to lead a "rescue squad" for Nixon.

(See other stories on Page 8.)

It was the president's biggest effort yet on behalf of his vice-president and potential successor, and came in a state where some polls show that the lead right now is held by Kennedy.

KEY STATES

With the election only six days off, both presidential candidates were concentrating their fire on states with the biggest electoral votes of all. While Nixon was in New York, Kennedy was stumping California, whose 32 electoral votes are matched only by Pennsylvania.

The Eisenhower and Nixon New York campaign included a blizzard-like tele-tape parade up Broadway, two huge rallies, and frankly political speeches by the president.

FACES CHOICE

Eisenhower said that on election day the nation may face a choice between "the cataclysm of war" and "the principles that made the United States great."

He said that "Richard Nixon and Cabot Lodge offer the finest type of leadership available to this nation."

For his part, Nixon declared, with the president at his side, that "Henry Cabot Lodge and I have been with the president, I have been in his presence when great decisions were made."

It was the president's joint appearance with Nixon and Lodge yesterday that provided Kennedy with speech ammunition in his tour of California.

Kennedy said he was reminded of trained elephants in the circus which hook themselves together in a trunk-grasping-tail arrangement.

"You know how they travel around by grabbing the tail of the elephant in front of them," Kennedy told his audiences. "In 1952 and 1956, Mr. Nixon was hanging on tight—but now Mr. Nixon is the candidate."

Starving Bears Invade Suburbs of Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Brown bears, small, hungry and for the most part harmless, are turning up in garbage cans, fruit trees, back gardens and even streets and bridges in suburban North and West Vancouver.

Some are shot by police while others are taken into custody by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

PAINTED

In the latter case they are slapped with a paintbrush full of luminous paint and sent back to the mountains.

The SPCA, which violently objects to the shooting of the animals, says the bears are being driven out of the mountains behind north shore municipalities by a lack of food. It is the first time since 1932 there has been any problem.

The lack of food is caused away

Sunday, a cub tried to cross the busy new Second Narrows Bridge to Vancouver. Some adventurous youths captured it and held it for the SPCA.

Three persons were bitten and scratched while capturing the cub. One of them was SPCA inspector Joseph Cookson, who later fumed upon hearing a report that the cub was being held for a rabies check.

NONSENSE

"Nonsense. The bear's natural tendency was to defend himself."

Mr. Cookson suggests a solution to the food problem for next year—ask all the big department stores to let the organization truck their garbage up to the mountains.

Mr. Hughes says the problem will not last much longer this year—the bears already starting to go into hibernation.

Unionists Can't Afford Union-Made Clothes

WINNIPEG (CP)—Union leaders here have been told that many union members can't afford to wear union-made clothes.

A difference of opinion on whether the opinion is correct arose Tuesday night at a meeting of the Winnipeg and district Trades and Labor Council.
